Police Find No Trace of Missing Bandit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police forces on the lower British Columbia mainland continued their search for escaped bank robber William Babcock today but reported they had no promising leads to his whereabouts.

Babcock, just starting a 20-year sentence, slipped out of Oakalla prison Sunday with a church choir.

"We are proceeding on the assumption that he is still in the Vancouver area," an RCMP official said. "but we really haven't any idea where he is."

Meanwhile, former hockey great Frank Frederickson told how he walked out of the prison chapel with Babcock.

Mr. Frederickson, a member of the King's men of Ryerson United Church, was one of 24 men who held a Bible class in the prison Sunday afternoon.

"As we were going out," he said, "this fellow came up and started walking beside me. I didn't know him. But I don't know everyone in our group. I thought he was one of us."

"He said to me 'that was a nice talk, Mr. Frederickson, I liked it.'"

Babcock, who was wearing dark glasses and a business suit, slipped away from the group outside the chapel and escaped over a wire fence. Police believe he had an accomplice in a car outside.

Naval refit contracts totaling $228,000 were awarded today to Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrow's shipyards, it was reported from Ottawa by Dr. F. T. Fairley, MP.

HMCS Stettler will be refitted at VMD for approximately $114,000 and HMCS New Glasgow will go to Yarrow's on a similar contract. Both ships are frigates of the Pacific command, RCN.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING For Young People

(A revision of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's best two-year best-seller, "The Power of Positive Thinking," the following is one of a daily series of articles specially directed to young people but helpful to all ages.)

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
CHAPTER VII
BE A WINNER

If you are a person who thinks and expects defeat, I urge you to stop and consider. For thinking defeat tends to bring it upon you. Talk to yourself; re-educate yourself; get yourself out of the habit of negative thinking, of believing anything can defeat you. I suggest that you adopt as a slogan, "Be a Winner." And say it to yourself every time doubt comes into your mind. Really believe that you can "Be a Winner."

Take the story of Richard Gonzales, who won the national tennis championship a few years ago in a grueling battle. He had been practically unknown, and because of wet weather, he had not been able to perfect his game prior to the tournament. The sports writer of a metropolitan newspaper, in analyzing Gonzales, said that there were certain defects in his technique, and gave it as his opinion that probably greater champions had played on the courts; however, he credited Gonzales with a marvelous serve and a skillful volley. But the factor that won the championship, said the writer, was his staying power and the further fact that "he was never defeated by the discouraging vicissitudes of the game."

That is one of the most subtle lines I have ever read

JUST CHATTER SAYS CHURCHILL

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill jovially told Parliament today to avoid being "led away by all the chatter in the papers" about his rumored retirement.

Churchill's jocular comment, however, did not still a widely held belief that his retirement is imminent.

Victoria Woman Draws Favored Horse in 'Irish'

Lucky 12 in B.C. Include Duncan Man

By TONY DICKASON

A vivacious Victoria red-head who says "I don't know anything about horses," today switched on a wide, ecstatic smile of undiluted happiness when told by the Times she had drawn a horse in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes on the Grand National to be run Saturday in England.

She was the sole Victorian to have a horse in the draw Monday.

Another lucky ticket holder resides at Duncan—but only the non-de-plume "Mitzy" is listed. Ticket number is MQ-47863. Name of the horse is not shown.

They are two of the 12 British Columbians among 149 Canadians who have drawn horses.

Mrs. Jean McArthur, a Scots girl "over 21," received the news in the laboratory of St. Joseph's Hospital where she works. She was loath to believe it at first.

"Come now," she said unbelievably.

The news spread throughout the "lab" quickly and nurses and office workers fluttered around in high excitement.

LET'S CELEBRATE
Coolest was Mrs. MacArthur. She answered the usual questions amongst a babble of such comments as "Isn't it wonderful . . . you should cut us all in . . . how terrific . . . super . . . there'll be no work done here today . . . let's have a holiday."

She's indeed a lucky gurl, for Mrs. McArthur didn't buy her ticket. It was purchased two months ago by R. McArthur, a cousin of her hubby. He wrote her name on the ticket and his own address, 1573 Pear Street.

Said Mr. McArthur: "I never buy them for myself. I think it's the third one I've bought for her. Do I feel badly about a possible personal loss? Of course not."

Her ticket drawn was on Mariner's Log, an 18-to-1 shot, one of the favorites in the field of 37. As the horse is regarded as a certain starter she is assured of $14,000.

(See sports page for latest odds.)

If Mariner's Log nips in first in the famed steeplechase, she stands to win $140,000; if second, $36,000. The numerous prizes range down to $28.

Mrs. McArthur is putting her ticket in a "nice, safe place" in her home at 639 Yates Street.

Two persons in the Toronto area hold tickets on the favorite, Early Mist. Six Canadians have tickets on the second-place favorite, Tudor Line, and one on Goosander, bracketed with Tudor Line as second choice.

Mariner's Log is sixth choice.

LONDON (AP)—Tormond and Air Wedding, long shots for the 109th Grand National steeplechase, were officially scratched today.

CHILD SKELETON MYSTERY CLEARED

Nanaimo Man Identifies Valdes Bodies As 150-Year Bones From Indian Graves

NANAIMO (CP)—The mystery of the three bodies—those of young children—found on a lonely Valdes Island beach was cleared up today.

They were from an ancient Indian burial ground and probably had been there 150 years, reported A. L. Kendall of Boat Harbor, five miles south of here.

Mr. Kendall for three years has been making a study of the old Haida Indian burial ground. There are perhaps 1,000 bodies in the burial site. He has in his possession a large collection of relics taken from the island, six miles from here.

FOUND BY BOYS
The children's bodies, one intact in a mummified condition and the skulls and bones of the two others, were found by two boys trapping on the island. They made their find when they looked under a canvas they found beneath an overhanging cliff.

"There is no mystery to these deaths," said Mr. Kendall. "I placed the canvas over them some time ago to protect them from the elements."

"White people make me ashamed sometimes," he added.

TOSSED OVER CLIFF
He said about a year ago some visitors from Victoria had tossed a body over a cliff, taking it from the burial grounds.

Mr. Kendall today produced a photo of the three bodies he took three years ago. The bodies are shown resting in long cedar shaws with which the Indians draped their dead many years ago.

Police sent the bodies to Victoria for an examination by anthropologists at the museum there.

The intact body is that of a child about 10 years old. The skulls and bones of the other two indicated their ages to be about two or three years old.

WORST PACIFIC TRAGEDY

Flames Sweep Crashed Plane

HONOLULU (UP)—A four-engine navy plane crashed into the side of a mountain today. All 66 persons aboard perished.

It was the worst aviation disaster in the history of Hawaii.

The DC-6, a military air transport plane, returning to Hickham Field after developing radio trouble, crashed and burned on a ridge inside a top-secret ammunition depot, 20 miles northwest of here, at 2:16 a.m. A woman and a small child were among the 57 passengers and nine crewmen.

A Marine guard at the ammunition depot, said plane roared over at an altitude of 500 feet. It barely missed hitting a 700-foot radio antenna.

"LIKE DAYLIGHT"
Then the pilot turned on the landing lights and, apparently, saw the ridge ahead. But it was too late to avoid smashing into the mountain.

The mountainside "lit up like daylight for about one minute." The marine said he could see the plane burning fiercely for several minutes after the crash.

A civilian who lives on the station said the plane was so low that the roar of its engines awakened him out of a sound sleep. Then he heard a "sound like a gasoline drum explosion."

When the first person reached the scene 45 minutes after the crash, the plane was still burning.

"It was hot and there were small explosions which sounded like small arms ammunition going off," he said. There was no sign of life.

"Everything was burned," he said. "The wreckage smelled of burning hair and you could tell there were bodies in there."

The crash was the most disastrous Pacific crash reported outside of the Far East.

The worst previous air disaster in the Pacific was the crash of a Transocean Airlines plane off Wake Island July 12, 1953, in which 58 persons were killed.

LONDON (AP)—"Traitor of Yalta" was scrawled in red paint across the base of a statue of President Roosevelt in Grosvenor Square early today.

The defacement was believed the work of a person angered by the disclosure in the Yalta conference papers released in Washington last week that the American president suggested handing over Hong Kong to China.

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Eden returned to work at his Whitehall office today after being out with influenza.

Queen Mother Elizabeth, who has influenza, was reported improved today but still confined to the house under doctor's orders. She is at the royal lodge in Windsor.

No 'Trade' For Alaska Says Bennett

HONOLULU (Reuters)—Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, premier of British Columbia, told reporters here today that Canadians would be "outraged" if so-called whisperings of a land exchange between Canada and the United States got to the talking stage.

"Any talk of Canada trading southern British Columbia for Alaska is utterly irresponsible and absurd," he said.

"But I wouldn't mind seeing Hawaii joined to British Columbia," he added humorously.

New Treaty to Conserve West Coast Pink Salmon Forecast for Next Fall

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

Fisheries Minister Sinclair Monday night forecast that Canada and the United States will negotiate a treaty this fall for conservation of pink salmon on the west coast.

He also said that international protection of fur seals in the north Pacific has proved so effective that Canadian and American fishermen complain they are being outfished by the animals.

Mr. Sinclair spoke on a government resolution precluding introduction of a bill to ratify a 10-year Canada-U.S. convention to preserve the Great Lakes fisheries. The resolution was approved and the bill introduced and given first reading.

Mr. Sinclair said the convention is the seventh international treaty signed by Canada for fishery conservation. Others provide for protection of west coast halibut and sockeye, fur seals, whales and fisheries in the north Pacific and north Atlantic.

The convention left only one major Canadian fishery unprotected—pink salmon on the west coast. However, the government hoped it would be able to negotiate a treaty with the U.S. next fall.

Mr. Sinclair said the fur seal convention has resulted in the herd increasing to between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 animals from about 150,000.

Transportation Costs Under Fire
The Commons representative of Northwest Territories residents says a Crown-owned transportation company is forcing his constituents to pay through the nose.

M. A. Hardie (L.-Mackenzie River) Monday urged a government check of the Northern Transportation Co. which carries the bulk of water freight into the north.

He also asked for a review of passenger and freight charges by Canadian Pacific Airlines and said investigations of both companies would result in lower living costs in the far north.

Mr. Hardie, former manager for Associated Airways, a northern flying service, listed these prices in his home town of Yellowknife: butter, 85 cents a pound, eggs, 90 cents a dozen; fresh milk, 55 cents a quart; fuel oil, 31½ cents a gallon.

All these high prices are due largely to transportation costs, he said.

Mr. Hardie spoke during debate on a government bill reducing the scale of continued emergency assistance to gold mines in 1955 and 1956.

He said lower freight costs are necessary for development of the north's mining economy. The north did not want to be wet-nursed but it was entitled to a fair break.

Citizenship Minister J. W. Pickersgill took the blame Monday for an "enthusiastic" civil servant who spent money on a national film board movie about parliament which turned out to be a dud.

Gordon Fraser (PC-Peterborough) asked why the film, titled "Parliament At Work" and finished about two weeks ago, had been held up.

Pickersgill, through whom the film board reports to parliament, said he had seen the finished product and decided it wouldn't make a satisfactory picture.

Canadian taxpayers have not been committed to any assistance to the project for a natural gas pipeline from Alberta to eastern Canada, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday.

He was questioned by Carl Brownies Enrolled by Commissioner

LADYSMITH—Commissioner Mrs. R. G. Grant enrolled Jacqueline Moore and Helen and Barbara Thompson as Brownies when she attended the regular weekly meeting of the Saltair Brownie group.

During the meeting she presented Marlene Godkin with her gold bar, and Mrs. B. C. Clements with her tawny owl pin and warrant.

First United Church Choir Wins Festival's Highest Mark

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Highest marks awarded to any group or individual in the Greater Victoria Music Festival so far, were won Monday night by First United Church Choir.

It seems regrettable that while there are other church choirs of grade A category in this city, none of them saw fit to compete with First United in this class. Surely nothing could be more stimulating to all concerned, than a close contest between fine choirs. It is only natural to ask, is fear of being outdone the reason for this reluctance?

The church choir class was Monday evening's final event, and in opening his adjudication, Glyndwr Jones commented:

"Well, this was certainly worth waiting for!"

SMALL AUDIENCE

Once more he regretted that a larger audience had not heard singing which he described as "a joy to hear" and "thrilling." He gave the choir 91 marks for each of two numbers, congratulating the directors—Mr. and Mrs. J. Roberto Wood—for their excellent choice of music, perfect tempos and lovely phrasing.

Three important solo events, two of which were untested, were included in the enjoyable session. A high mark of 87 was gained by John Sawyer in the violin solo performer's class. His playing of the first movement and Auer cadenza from Mozart's Concerto in A Major, drew from L. Shepherd-Munn, in adjudicating, the remark that here was "a greatly talented young man."

Ruth E. Tribute, playing a Bach Chorale and a composition by the contemporary Elert in senior organ solo class, received the substantial marking of 85.

Intermediate piano classes final, in which winners of several intermediate classes played against one another, was won by Bruce Dutton, for his musically performance of a Bach Prelude and Fugue. Other finalists were Gordon Britton and Arla Smalley.

With Mount View High School being forced to cancel its entry in the class for high school girls' chorus because of sickness among members, Victoria High School had no competitor, but was given considerable praise and total marks of 173.

The class for choral societies, open to all choirs, was won by the B.C. Electric Glee

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

Another interesting program is scheduled for tonight at 8 at First United Church, with three high school mixed voice choirs competing: a performance by the winner of the senior Beethoven class, Lawrence Reid, and a three-way contest between ladies choirs from Lake Cowichan, Emmanuel and Royal Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Glee Club.

In addition, the ladies' section of the First United choir will sing in an untested class.

Wednesday's program is a busy one with a number of important vocal classes at First United Church, notably both male and female oratorio and female oratorio solos, Bach sacred solo and folk song, grade A classes scheduled. Primary and junior piano classes will continue at St. John's War Memorial Hall and junior speech arts and choirs at Metropolitan Church schoolroom.

Club with 167 total marks. Sidney-North Saanich Musical Society came a close second with 163.

Another important class Monday, was that for leader singers and pianists. This was judged by both Mr. Jones and Mr. Shepherd-Munn.

The latter gave an outline of what he described as the "very specialized art of leader performance—a form of chamber music." He gave as one of the important aspects, the fact that the singer must portray, not the words so much as the spirit of the poem.

It was the pianist's responsibility to visualize the whole thing as a self-contained work and to set out to establish and maintain the mood of the piece, before even sounding the first note, he said. When it came to judging the contestants, he added, they were being considered, not individually, but as to which had constituted the best team.

Mr. Jones found this class, in general, as not having a sufficiently high standard to meet the requirements. He awarded first place with the concurrence of the piano adjudicator, to Adele Goult and Eric Allan, giving them an 82 for "O Liebliche Wangen" by Brahms.

At Metropolitan Church schoolroom Monday, Mrs. Eileen Parker, British adjudicator now resident in New Westminster, commenced judging of speech arts classes. The following mark were awarded: Boys, 18 years and under—Anthony A. Churchill, 165. Boys, 21 years and under—Norman Wilkinson, 166. Men, open—Bob Fleming,

Compulsion Seen Drug Cure

RCMP Chief Urges New Approach To Solve Narcotics Problem

(CP and BUP Dispatches)

OTTAWA (CP)—RCMP commissioner L. H. Nicholson said today drug addiction in Canada will be stamped out only if addicts are "compulsorily isolated or quarantined" by the government for rehabilitation.

He told a Senate committee studying traffic in narcotics that the menace cannot be eradicated by more rigid police enforcement or by legal provision of drugs to addicts.

Commissioner Nicholson said that as long as addicts are left at large "they provide the market for traffickers and by association encourage others suffering from similar personality, character weaknesses or instability to become drug users."

IMPOSE LOAD ON SOCIETY

"They also, as a corollary, impose a load upon society through their illegal activities and complete lack of productivity," he said. "I therefore feel... that the only hope for the possible rehabilitation of these addicts and for the eradication of the drug traffic is that they be compulsorily isolated or quarantined."

Addicts should be released only when those qualified to judge them are convinced there is real hope of rehabilitation. Those released also should be subject to continuing care and supervision.

A study of 2,009 cases showed not one case in which an addict, following his first conviction and sentence, did not return to jail either for a narcotic offense or for a crime usually associated with the attempt of addicts to obtain funds with which to continue their addiction.

Liberal Chief Hits Spending On B.C. Schools

Laying Charges Teachers Ignored

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal leader Arthur Laing said here Monday night that there is a need for a look at the results of increased government spending on schools.

Mr. Laing said the Social Credit government has spent too much money on school buildings in the last few years and too little heed has been given school teachers.

The Liberal leader attacked statements by Social Crediters that claimed school taxes would be reduced by 25 per cent on farm lands and to home owners under the new school formula.

In effect, he said, there is no financial relief for anyone. "All the problems that confronted us this year will present themselves again next year, but in increasing severity."

On hospital insurance, Mr. Laing said the sales tax had actually resulted in doubling of costs over the last few years.

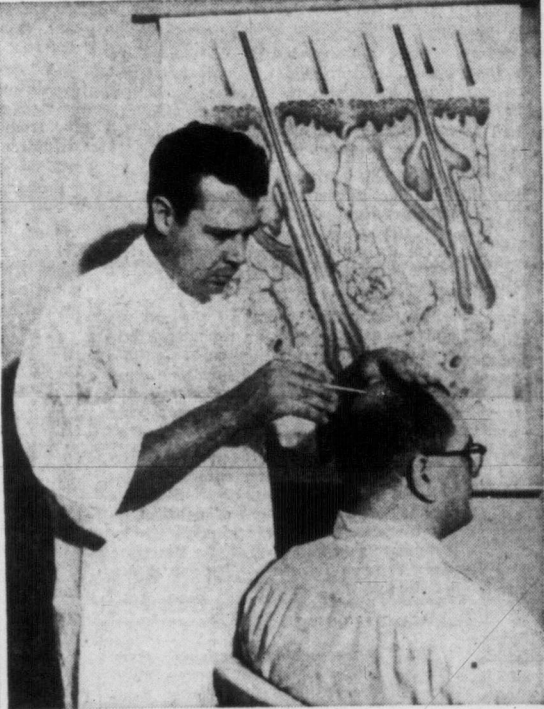

Social Credit policies were making British Columbia the most expensive province in Canada in which to live.

Famous Trichologist Will Demonstrate How To Grow Thicker Hair And Guarantees It!

Demonstration To Be Held Here

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Victoria, B.C., Wednesday and Thursday, March 23 and March 24.

These private individual demonstrations will be held at the Dominion Hotel on Wednesday and Thursday, March 23 and March 24—12 noon to 9 p.m.

HALIFAX, March 15—In an interview here today, William L. Keele, internationally famous Trichologist and Director of the Keele Hair Experts, said, "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so-called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED
"The Keele firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offer a guarantee," Keele said. "Once a person avails himself to the Keele treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. 'If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned.'"

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED
First the Trichologist is quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely shiny bald is he in this last category. If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Keele treatment can perform wonders. A complete, private examination is given by a Trichologist to determine the condition of the scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS
This examination is very thorough and highly technical, it requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination.

SAANICH PTA OPPOSES RACE TRACK

Saanich Peninsula PTA Council protested establishment of a race track on the 83-acre city-owned Beaver Lake site, at a Saanich Council meeting Monday.

The PTA council, speaking for 13 PTA groups in Saanich, said the site should be preserved as a park area.

Council decided it will deal with the protest as soon as a public hearing is held to discuss the race track project. This will be held as soon as council receives a report on the proposed project from the Capital Region Planning Board.

Semenick Murder Plot Charged

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Herald says plans to murder William Semenick and the two men charged with his attempted murder were uncovered and thwarted by guards at the Oakalla prison farm near here.

The Herald says Semenick, named as a leader in the Vancouver illegal narcotics trade, is being kept in the prison hospital to avoid danger from other prisoners.

Plans to kill or intimidate Joseph Marcoux and Eddie Sherban, who are charged with shooting Semenick in Stanley Park during a drug war last November, were also discovered, says The Herald.

Marcoux, whose bail is set at $25,000, is slated to appear in court today. Sherban, with a bail of $60,000, will be brought before the court later in the week.

GATT Nations Spawn Permanent Trade Pact

But Canada Withholds Final Decision Pending U.S. Congress Ratification

OTTAWA—Canada will wait to see which way the U.S. Congress jumps before joining the permanent world trade body recommended by the Geneva conferences of nations endorsing the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs (better known as GATT).

The new body—to be known as Organization for Trade Cooperation—would police GATT tariff bargains and trade rules.

Canada has endorsed the plan, in principle. But remembering how the U.S. Congress killed the 1948 proposal for an international trade organization, Canada will withhold final decision until the U.S. legislators act.

Creation of OTC was among the GATT recommendations listed in a communique issued by the 34-nation world trade organization Monday. GATT members control 80 per cent of the world's trade.

FARM IMPORT CURBS

The communique also confirmed what became known last week—that Canada has lost its fight to prevent the U.S. from imposing farm import curbs. But Canada, and other GATT nations, have reserved the right to retaliate if trade is seriously hurt by the U.S. restrictions.

Trade Minister Howe doesn't think the States will create "insuperable" difficulties. He doubts Washington will abuse the "waiver" given it by GATT to restrict farm imports whenever these threaten to interfere with U.S. domestic price support programs.

Somewhat similar privileges also were given to Britain by GATT. These permit Britain to

RANK AND FILE TO DECIDE UNION POLITICS

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—The form of political action to be taken by the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor when they merge will be decided by the whole membership, Max Swerdlow of Ottawa, an official of the TLC, said Monday.

Swerdlow told the final session of a two-day trade union seminar at the University of British Columbia it was poor strategy for labor to support any single political party despite the CCL's avowed support of the CCF.

Truck Driver Fined After Train Mishap

In Esquimalt police court on Monday, Robert J. McKinnon, 2723 Mount Stephen Avenue, was fined $35 when he pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge.

Court was told the accused was the driver of a five-ton naval truck March 4 which pulled into the path of a north-bound passenger train at a railway crossing near HMCS Naden entrance.

Damage to the truck was $1,000, police said. McKinnon will be allowed to drive for business purposes only for two months, Magistrate Henry C. Hall ruled.

Vandalism in Parks Costly to Victoria

Several thousand dollars were lost to vandalism in Victoria in 1954 according to the annual report to council of parks administrator W. H. Warren.

Damaged boulevard trees cost $1,000, damaged monuments in Ross Bay Cemetery cost a similar amount and vandalism in parks cost $1,300.

Mr. Warren added that rock-throwing children are making it difficult to keep peafowl and swans in Goodacre Lake and maintenance of the park has become more costly due to garbage and rubbish left there.

On the other hand, Mr. Warren pointed out an increasing number of residents have requested grass seed from the city as local improvement plans have produced additional boulevards. Residents are also taking good care of about 540 trees planted on the boulevards last year, and seeing that they are watered.

The Pipeline

IT IS UNFORTUNATE THAT THE trans-Canada gas pipeline should be delayed for another year. But delay is better than an arrangement which, apparently, most of the federal cabinet regarded as improvident.

Mr. Howe, it is reported, was ready to have the Government guarantee the entire bond issue of the promoters, leaving them to enjoy the resulting chance of profits on the relatively small stock issue. This plan, despite Mr. Howe's great influence, was rejected by his colleagues in favor of another formula.

While the details so far published are vague, it appears that the Government was prepared to buy some of the pipeline company's bonds, provided they were convertible into stock. Not the company itself, but subsidiaries which would supply it with gas in Alberta, objected to that proposal on the ground that the Government, by converting its bonds into voting stock, might gain control of the whole project. The opposition to this possibility was so strong that the Government's offer was rejected and construction postponed.

Behind all these negotiations stands the Government's policy of making sure that Canada gets all the gas it needs before any is exported.

At first sight this may appear to be a contradiction of the Government's larger policy of encouraging international trade. But the Government does not regard gas or electricity as being in the same economic category as ordinary goods. They are considered the essential fuel of future industry and a capital asset which is not, except in rare circumstances, for foreign sale.

Hence the decision to prevent the flow of gas into the United States, as strict economic factors would dictate, and to keep it in Canada, or as much of it as this country can reasonably use.

The plan to pipe gas from the Peace River country to Vancouver and into the western States is in another category, for an obvious reason: Since the market in British Columbia is not sufficient to finance the pipeline, export is permitted as the only method of getting gas into Vancouver.

The recent contentious debates within the cabinet at Ottawa show that a trans-Canada pipeline is a much more formidable undertaking financially than had been originally supposed. At the outset the promoters intended to finance the project without government aid. Then they discovered that this was difficult if not impossible and sought the underwriting of the state in one form or another. Having rejected the Government's offer, they propose to revert to their original program of private financing, but the delay thus caused will make it impractical to proceed this year, in the short summer construction season.

If the company can finance the scheme alone, so much the better. The taxpayers of Canada will then be taking no risks. Whether this is possible should soon be discovered. The investment market here and in the United States will make up its mind about the value of the company's stock and bond issues. If, however, it proves impossible to secure sufficient private funds in this way the promoters no doubt will return to the Government and try to work out a new formula of state participation. Delay is regrettable but in a scheme so vast and costly, affecting millions of potential gas users, industrial and private, it will be wise to make sure in advance that the financial structure is sound, that the whole theory of carrying gas across half a continent is itself economic.

Waiting in Suspense

INCLUSION OF A SAARLAND settlement in the agreement on West German rearmament and sovereignty has not yet solved the problem. The Bonn Government, while accepting a "Europeanization" of the disputed territory, has reserved the right to reopen the question in the future. The result is that the Saar still lives on a day-to-day basis, a situation unsatisfactory to the Saarlanders themselves as well as to West Germany and France.

France received the territory from Germany as a form of reparations after the First World War. Lying on the border, just south of Luxembourg, it is rich in coal but little else. Under the present arrangement, arising from the Second World War settlement, the Saar is included in the French customs area and uses French currency. The people, however, are German in origin, culture and language.

The Saar coal forms a natural combination with the iron ore resources of nearby Lorraine. This is the basis of Saar prosperity, and is welcomed by the Saarlanders. The Saar imports large amounts of foodstuffs from France and exports coal to France and West Germany. The people would like to receive more goods from Germany and have been promised this under the new agreement. However the French currency and customs advantages place that country in a preferred trade position.

The Saarlanders look to the compromise solution of a guaranteed European unit, separated politically from either France or Germany, as an acceptable one. However it is recognized that existence under the looser organization of the Western European Union will not be so stable as it would have been under the now-abandoned European Defense Community.

In the meantime the 900,000 people of the Saar urge an end to the tug-of-war which so long has kept them in suspense. They have found for one thing that investors are reluctant to place their money in a territory whose political future is still so uncertain, although under French encouragement the area is flourishing economically.

The Malahat and Tourists

EVERY CAR DRIVER, LOCAL resident or tourist, who goes up Island will applaud plans to improve the Malahat north of Hall's boat-house.

That is a section of the highway which needs attention for the sake of safety.

For that reason the public works department's announcement of plans to start reconstruction makes good reading. But one point should be given serious consideration. Work on the road should not block the flow of drivers, including tourists, during the period of heaviest traffic in the summer months.

Crazy Mixed-Up Managers

A FOOTNOTE TO THE LAMENTABLE Richard hockey shenanigans is provided by a news item from Quebec City. The story, an interview with the general manager of the Quebec Aces hockey team, revealed last week that this aggregation of athletes was taking training in boxing in preparation for their next game with the Montreal Royals. The team has hired a boxing coach and installed a light punching bag in the dressing room. "Tomorrow," the manager is quoted, "we're hanging a heavy bag up over the ice and they'll start learning to fight on skates."

This appears to be sportsmanship in its full flowering—1955 style. But one cannot help wondering if such exponents of amateur sport ever stop to consider what they are doing in the name of hockey—as well as what they are doing to the name of hockey.

For the Well-Shod Car

THE U.S. RUBBER COMPANY has announced its ability to produce colored tires to harmonize with the shade of new cars and says it will have blue, green and brown on the market shortly.

To the "submerged tenth," or the equivalent percentage of automobile owners who have not yet attained the distinction of "white-walls," the announcement may have little significance. The price of champagne is a matter of indifference to beer drinkers.

But the colored tire could have practical value. Turned out in that expensive shade of "parking crayon yellow" it might be an economical purchase, saving owners a considerable sum in over-parking fines if it could absorb unnoticeably the warning checks the cop on the tricycle applies.

There is, of course, the danger that the parking crayon might change color, too. In which case it would be necessary to have inside information from the traffic office to determine which tires to wear on a particular day.

LOOSE ENDS

The End of a Dream

MR. ATTLEE and Mr. Bevan, now apparently at final grips, are men long distant from Canada. But the forces they represent are present here in our Canadian society, are common to democratic societies everywhere. And they represent—in the CCF as in its parent, the British Labor Party, the end of a dream.

Hutchison

Socialism is such a big, shiny and amorphous word that few people, even socialists, stop to ask themselves what it means. The crisis in the Labor Party has suddenly blown up because Mr. Bevan has asked, at an embarrassing pre-election moment, what socialism should mean. It should mean, in his view, what it used to mean before the Second World War. Whereas Mr. Attlee and the moderates see (as perhaps Mr. Coldwell sees in Canada) that the prewar world, and along with it the prewar concept of socialism, are dead. They are dead because society never stands still.

THE Labor Party, and the CCF in its famous Regina Manifesto, drew a blueprint for the world of the hungry thirties. The CCF, child of the depression, proposed to cure everything by extinguishing private enterprise and turning all the vital parts of the economy over to the state.

The Labor Party, on the same sort of program, came to office after the war and began to nationalize some of the great industries. But meanwhile the society which these reformers intended to remake had been remaking itself without socialism. The economic system everywhere had been overhauled—not mainly by socialists but by reformers such as Franklin Roosevelt who still believed in private enterprise.

Thus socialists attacked a system which seemed able only to produce perpetual booms and busts but today they face a system organically changed and producing in the Western world—within ten years of a devastating war—the highest standard of living ever known.

It doesn't matter much what the present system is called. The private enterprise may call it the triumph of private enterprise. The socialist may call it a partial socialism. Every politician and party will give it a different slogan to suit the passing needs of politics. Whatever the system may be, it is not the system which traditional socialism was designed to cure.

Another thing has happened to divert the course of socialism and change the whole prospects of socialist parties. The principle of nationalization, the operation of industries by the state, has been tried on a massive scale in Britain and has worked indifferently.

The socialist will reply that it has worked better than its predecessor but even if that is so, the fact remains that the Attlee wing of the Labor Party is not prepared to pursue it any further.

THE moderates have seen that if nationalization is a good system in certain areas of the economy—in natural monopolies, for example—it is not by any means an answer to everything as was once supposed. The working people have also seen that under nationalization they do not escape the boss; they only have a new and more powerful boss, called the state.

The quarrel between Mr. Attlee and Mr. Bevan, then, is a quarrel between those socialists who are not prepared to pursue socialism, in the form of state ownership, any farther, and those who would push it on all fronts toward the ultimate socialist paradise. The same quarrel rages within the CCF but it does not capture the headlines because the CCF is only a minor force in our parliamentary politics.

A FINAL factor has intervened to disrupt the Labor Party, as it has disrupted all other human calculations. Historic socialism, including that of Marx himself, assumed that international war was the inevitable result of private enterprise, the contest between rich and greedy men; that once the workers themselves controlled the economy the cause of war would disappear.

Marx went further and assumed (the wildest assumption ever made by a great mind) that the state itself would disappear because it would no longer be needed to manage the classless and harmonious society—of which Russian society today is the gaudy caricature.

UNFORTUNATELY the danger of war did not recede as socialism advanced. Mr. Attlee knows that the Russian society calling itself socialism poses a supreme danger to humanity in general and to socialism, as he understands it, in particular. Thus his immediate quarrel with Mr. Bevan stems out of the problem of defense, including the plan to rearm Germany.

For all these reasons socialism of the starry-eyed prewar variety has become quite irrelevant. The movement which thought of itself as the leader of the human advance has fallen far behind the rushing procession of events. It proposes solutions for problems already solved but no solution to the new problems.

INEVITABLY a split opens between the Bevan who intend to solve all problems by the magic of the state and the Attlee who reinterpret socialism as a reformist movement, working gradually for better things but with no neat blueprint and no early hope of Utopia in this wicked world.

Or, to put the same thing in Canadian terms, the CCF would have had a good chance of taking office in Ottawa, probably it would have done so, if the Liberal Party had not moved in and implemented virtually all the practical aspects of the socialist program without repealing private enterprise—in other words if the society attacked by the CCF had not been altered from top to bottom without direct state control.

Since it has been altered there is no room in practical politics for a straight socialist party whose solutions, apparently new and exciting, are now found to be old-fashioned and out of date.

As Our Readers See It

MORE PRECIOUS THAN DIAMONDS

The last four months have brought me the privilege of seeing a close-up of a group of people who are bringing help and gracious understanding to those who have lost something far more precious than diamonds. I refer to the tragedy of those who have lost physical powers and gradually declined to a point where they lie helpless day after day, unable to walk, to drive, to read or write, even to feed themselves unaided. The mental distress accompanying this loss of power to live normally can hardly be imagined by those in good health.

The group of people referred to bring to those who have lost these powers gifts which are also more precious than diamonds. They plan consistently to arrange for the improvement of the physical condition of these sufferers through the maintenance of a special branch of hospital work. Also, they have a splendid corps of volunteer workers who give the utmost loving thought and consideration to the welfare of these sufferers, visiting them often in home or hospital, taking them for drives whenever possible, bringing them their articles to aid and brighten their restricted lives, and giving them a lift in spirits and courage of value far exceeding that of any precious stone.

Those who give these services will never have their names in bright lights; they do not seek publicity.

This group I have so recently discovered for myself, to whose undertakings and accomplishments I would pay warmest tribute is The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, whose clinic is in St. Joseph's Hospital, but whose field of help and encouragement encompasses not only the City of Greater Victoria, but the surrounding country as well. The Clinic is conducted at the Hospital by highly trained Physiotherapists who give the patients services far beyond the line of duty, and assist in launching the work in smaller communities.

A group of doctors highly skilled in this specialized work give freely of their services voluntarily for the good of the work of the society. A. H. PEASE.

POPULATION INCREASE

May I just suggest to your correspondent, Mr. James A. Sewell, that he check his figures as given in his letter in Times of March 10? In this he states that world population increases by a mere 69,000 persons yearly, while Hon. W. Mayhew at a luncheon meeting of the local Rotary Club on that same day stated that population increase in Japan alone is one million a year.

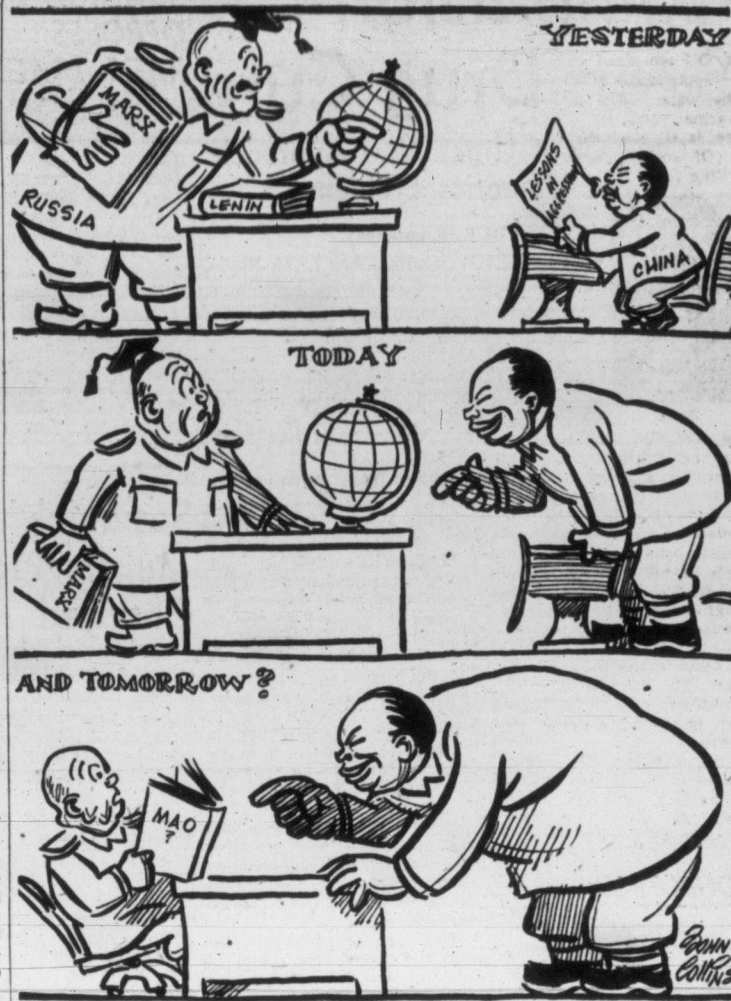

The population increase in India is five million a year, while in China at the same rate the increase will be not less than seven to eight millions, due to their population of over 600 millions.

If then as we know the increase of this part of the world of roughly one billion and 70 millions is around 14 millions, the remaining billion and over 400 millions at about the same figure, we have to think in terms of 28 to 30 millions of new people instead of the paltry 69,000 mentioned by Mr. Sewell.

They Didn't Reject Enough

BY ROSCOE DRUMMOND, From Washington

THE now-published records of the Big Three Yalta conference underline that President Franklin Roosevelt and his military and political staff made serious mistakes and miscalculations in their dealings with Premier Josef Stalin.

This massive bundle of papers, reporting private cables, private notes, private conversations, private exchanges among the Big Three, will provide raw material for the historians to ponder for decades to come.

They also provide ammunition to partisan politicians which they will use with partisan selectivity to provide whatever they want to prove about the past. There is more political dynamite than there is new fact in the recently published papers.

Any honest appraisal of the motives and the actions at Yalta must take into account the information and attitudes which then prevailed and must recognize that much of the valid criticism of the Yalta decisions rests upon wisdom after the event.

It has been evident for years that serious mistakes were committed at Yalta but we cannot benefit from Yalta's lessons in an atmosphere of political recrimination. At least a smidge of detachment is in order. Let me illustrate what I mean on three different Yalta decisions:

CHINA DECISION

THE Questionable Decision Over China—Stalin demanded of Roosevelt and Churchill sweeping concessions from China as the price of Soviet participation in the war against Japan. He said Moscow must be ceded the southern part of Sakhalin, the Kuriles, port rights in Dairen and Port Arthur and partnership in the Manchurian railways seized by Japan in 1905. The President agreed—and from the record rather docilely.

THE Explanatory Fact—President Roosevelt had before him the unanimous military judgment—Admiral King's dissent was not recorded—of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff that Russia must be brought into the Pacific war to avoid the U.S. having to invade the Japanese mainland.

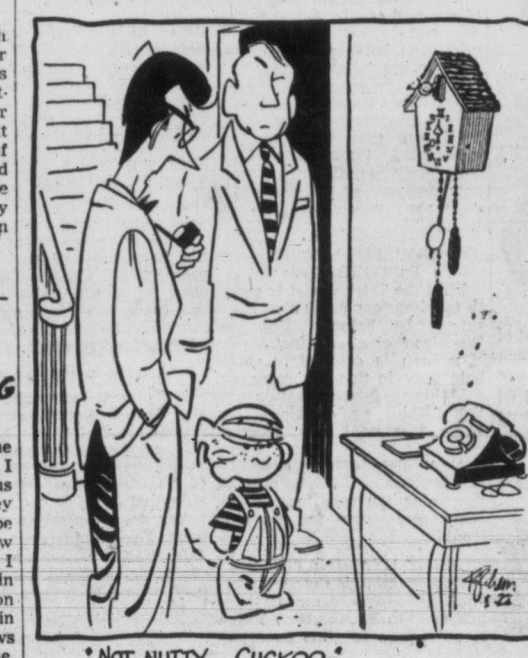

The Emergence of Canada

BY JOSEPH HARSCH, in The Christian Science Monitor

ONE of the least noted, but extremely important, trends of the times is the emergence of Canada as an independent and influential voice in world affairs. Washington long has thought of Canada as a thinly populated place across the northern border that was friendly. This no longer suffices as a definition of the role of Canada. Its population is growing rapidly, and its influence is growing even more rapidly.

Frequently the restraining influence on Washington which is presumed to be from London actually comes from Ottawa. More than once during recent years Ottawa has exercised almost a veto on plans and policies of Washington. Canada is one of the new centers of influence and power in the world, and one which very much possesses a mind of its own.

First Trip to Camp

YOU can stand on a float in Cigarmakers' Bay these days and whip a fly out over the water. The brisker you whip it, the warmer you'll get—and that, as far as I can see, is all you will get.

Of course when you're flailing around with a fly rod, you're not dropping that small bit of feather and hook onto the surface as the books say you should drop it. Still, a little energy in the performance does promote body warmth and body warmth is worth promoting at Shawigan during this early spring.

Looking south last weekend, you could still enjoy a Christmas card picture. The hill rising from the head of the lake was dusted with snow. Wherever the slopes face north, the scene was something for a December calendar.

It will be some time yet before the trilliums scatter their white three-pointed stars under the trees and before the yellow wood violets make their shy appearance. The birds have only begun to sing. They are not yet in full voice, though a loon lifts idiot laughter from the water and a disturbed grouse whirs away with a frantic rush of wings.

Snow in the hollows carries the track of deer. The animals haven't yet achieved the semi-friendliness which brings does out with their fawns in one of the loveliest of lakeside sights.

It's cold at a Shawigan summer camp this early in the season. You twist the key in the lock, open the door and step into a shack that seems to hold a dead-air chill in almost solid form.

There's a dampness in the cushions, the bedding, the old clothes hanging behind the door. The fireplace is moist and reluctant. Smoke from a hastily built fire lifts sluggishly to the flue. And when the flame dances brightly above the crackling wood, the wind-dows steam up, woodwork sweats.

Yet there's a certain pleasure in an early trip to camp. Around you is the tranquility of woods and shore not yet broken by the invasion of humans, not yet shattered by the roar of outboard motors.

If the ground doesn't offer up the tiny cadence of a hundred little streamlets rushing to the lake, it is softening and springy to the tread. Dusk brings the quick miracle of a few strong stars bright in the fading sky. The air is crisp and sweet.

Indoors, the fires beat back the cold, bring out the homey, slightly musty smell of rafting-draping blankets. Coffee bubbles in its well-sweetened pot on the stove. The benediction of its aroma mingles with the robust smell of camp cooking. And dinner is an event for ravenous appetites hooded keen in the outdoors, careless of a palate's delicacies.

Night pulls the stars down closer to the earth. The open fire glows. Its warmth spreads a drowsiness to figures in chairs close grouped about the hearth. A boy rises, pulls a fire-brick from the stove oven, wraps it in newspaper, slips it into his sleeping bag and shortly follows it.

Sharp cold will come with the darkness, when the fires sink and die. Skim ice will form on water bubbles on the stoop. But in that quiet time before retiring, while embers are red, a man knows a certain luxury and a certain peace—a time for pipe or two and unhurried reflections, or perhaps that even more restful state, no reflections at all.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Fabulous Lady Docker

LONDON—From time to time tidbits of news about Lady Docker have no doubt drifted across the Atlantic to you. For instance, her latest reason for being splashed all over the papers here is the fact that she has taken up marbles in a big way. Barred by the British Marbles Board of Control (they don't feel it's a woman's game), she went ahead with organizing a team to take on a team of factory girls up in Yorkshire and emerged at the end of the contest as the first Woman Marbles Champion of the World. A fine old bit of nonsense—but for a good cause. It raised several thousand pounds for the Cancer Relief Fund.

Reyburn

Who is this Lady Docker and why is she always in the news? That's what my wife and I asked ourselves when we first came over here. We were always seeing headlines about the Dockers. It was confusing. We'd see the headline DOCKERS THROW A FABULOUS PARTY and expect to read underneath something about workers at the London docks celebrating the successful outcome of their latest strike. But they weren't that sort of Dockers. It was Sir Bernard and Lady Docker.

The two of them—especially Lady Docker—are genuine celebrities in these parts. What established them as first-class "copy" for the popular press was their being barred from Monte Carlo Casino because of a face-slapping incident between Lady Docker and the gentleman in charge there. This was followed by their being barred from the Royal Enclosure at Ascot and since then the public has always been eager to learn of their latest doings.

Sir Bernard is head of the Daimler motor car concern. The Daimler was for many years the car most popular with the Royal family. It might be thought that an English businessman of such stature might have every right to be stuffy. But Sir Bernard isn't... or if he does have inclinations that way he doesn't have much chance of being so with Lady Docker around.

The glamorous, plain-speaking Lady Docker has been married twice before. ("Clement left me $515,000, and Wilkie left me $2,700,000.") She drives about in the Dockers' gold-repeat gold-Daimler in clothes that make other women green with envy. At least two of her evening gowns cost $750 each.

She is a lavish hostess on Sir Bernard's out-of-this-world private yacht on Mediterranean cruises. She throws stupendous parties that every hanger-on in the London cocktail set strives to be invited to. Recently she gave a huge party for every big name in British show business that truly lived up to her claim of its being a Non-Austerity Party.

Somewhere in her forties, she has charm, loves to have fun, has a good figure to show off her clothes but doesn't quite rate being called beautiful. She is frank, to say the least. Examples: "I adore spending money." "It isn't true that I live on pink champagne. Sir Bernard would like me to but I infinitely prefer a thumping big gin and tonic."

Voodoo Charges Dismissed

GUATEMALA (AP)—Witchcraft charges against Olga Monzon were dismissed in court Monday. Miss Monzon, a school teacher and sister of exiled Col. Eliezer Monzon, was charged Saturday with practicing witchcraft against President Carlos Castillo Armas.

The charge said she placed a small rag doll in a jar containing a thick liquid, pieces of garlic, onion, tomato and buckshot; stuck pins into the doll's head, and then sent her maid to the cemetery to bury the jar.

Police charged the figure represented the president.

In Monday's action, the court also cleared Miss Monzon's maid, Miss Monzon termed the charges "ridiculous, humiliating, offensive and slanderous."

The maid denied she had the doll and said a policeman who arrested her at a funeral had the bottle himself.

'Tea Clipper' Ships Made Marine History

In these days when the romance seems to have disappeared from the oceans of the world, and travel across the wide expanse of the ocean has become routine, the stories of the voyages of tea clipper ships have a nostalgic appeal for those who like to look back on "the good old days."

It is a far cry from the days when the voyages of these clipper ships from the China tea ports to the English Channel created tremendous excitement among the general public and were the subject of many thousands of pounds lost and won in bets.

RIVALRY HIGH

The era of the clipper ships, those beautiful craft which tore through the ocean like unleashed greyhounds, originated when the American vessel Oriental, with over 1,000 pounds of tea aboard, completed the journey from the Canton River, China, to London, England, in the very first time of 97 days. The British then began to build tea clippers of a similar design and an intense rivalry quickly sprang up between the competing British and American vessels. Later, the American competition faded out, but rivalry constituted as strong as ever between the various shipping firms, each one trying to get his ship home in the fastest time, partly for prestige but also to get the high premium prices paid for the first tea cargo landed. These clipper ships would leave—seven or eight of them at a time—from the port of Canton on the China coast and then nothing would be heard of them for weeks until they were sighted in the English Channel three months or so later.

The news of the arrival was conveyed to London as quickly as communications of those days would allow and the excitement engendered was tremendous as these ships tacked their way up the English Channel and up the River Thames to dock in London.

Perhaps the most famous of all the tea clipper races took place in the year 1866, when about eight vessels left the Canton River within two or three days of each other. Some 90 days later the clippers Taeiping and Ariel were racing up the Channel within sight of one another, with the Serica no more than four hours behind.

It seems that public interest in the race became intense—rather like the World Series nowadays—and continued until the Taeiping had docked, just about 20 minutes ahead of the Ariel.

One of the most famous British clippers was the Cutty Sark. She was used on the China tea run from 1870 to 1877 and afterwards wandered about the seas carrying general cargo and becoming involved in all kinds of adventures of a storybook nature which ended eventually in 1922, when she became a training ship at Falmouth, England.

Today, of course, China is only a very small factor in the tea trade, as almost all of Canada's tea is now imported in bulk from either India or Ceylon, and is blended and packaged under ideal conditions in Canadian factories.

Rezoning Asked for RC School

A public hearing to discuss an application for rezoning to allow construction of a Roman Catholic school on Trent Street, near the Veterans' Hospital, will be held April 4 at the Saanich Municipal Hall.

Saanich council ordered the public hearing Monday night. The application for rezoning the property was made by C. N. Montague.

Details of the plan for the school have not yet been disclosed, but it is understood the building would accommodate at least 145 pupils. The property includes about 11 lots.

Shoplifter Remanded

A Shawinigan Lake man was remanded to Thursday for sentence when he pleaded guilty to three shoplifting charges in city police court Monday.

Charged against William M. Mawie deal with theft from Hudson's Bay Company store of goods over $25 value and theft of $1.85 worth of meat from Safeway Stores Ltd., Herald and Douglas.

PLUCKING TEA is done by hand, mostly by women who develop amazing skill and speed at selecting the right leaves, breaking them off between thumb and finger, and transferring them by handfuls to their baskets.

QUIZ ON TEA

Does black and green tea grow on the same bush?

Yes, the difference between black and green tea is solely in the process of manufacture.

What process is used for making black tea?

After it is picked, it is put on trays to wither; after it has withered it is rolled, and allowed to oxidize, then it is fired and sorted.

What process is used for making green tea?

As soon as it is picked (instead of oxidizing, as for black tea), it is steamed, then rolled, fired and sorted, without permitting oxidation.

How often is tea picked?

In Ceylon, tea is picked every 7 or 8 days throughout the year; other countries have their seasons for picking.

Are different grades picked from the same bush?

Yes, and at the same time.

How are they graded?

After the leaf is dried by firing, it is put through a succession of sieves of different sizes, thus sorting the leaf according to size.

idea of service to businessmen, and so highly do they rate it that they are willing to pay large fees to attend a two-day session twice a year under the business wisdom and inspiration of Amos Parrish. To me it is a moving experience to sit with that big crowd in a hotel ballroom and listen to "A. P." as he is affectionately called, talk positive thinking to those important businessmen and women.

NEVER DISCOURAGED

Sometimes he has the greatest difficulty with his stuttering, but he is never discouraged. He refers to it frankly and with a sense of humor. One day, for example, he was trying to say the word, "Cadillac." He tried several times and was unable to get it out, and finally did so with a powerful effort. Then he commented "I can't even say C-C-C-Cadillac. Let alone buy one." The audience roared with laughter, but I noted that they looked up at him with affection written on their faces. Everyone leaves a meeting at which Amos Parrish speaks with the conviction that he, too, can turn his obstacles into assets.

Again I repeat, there is no difficulty you cannot overcome. A wise and philosophical Negro once said to me, when asked how he overcame his difficulties: "How do I get through a trouble? Well, first I try to go around it, and if I can't go around it, I try to get under it, and if I can't get under it, I try to go over it, and if I can't get over it, I just plow right through it." Then he added, "God and I plow right through it."

Say seriously this formula and each time you say it conclude with this affirmation, "I believe that." Here is the formula: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Say that five times every day and it will release indomitable power in your mind.

Tea Fashions, Habits Display Wide Range

Tea has been a favorite drink for centuries, but the consumers' taste for it seems to have changed in comparatively recent years.

At one time China and Japan supplied nearly all the world consumption of tea, but today, little tea comes from those two countries compared with the huge quantities from India and Ceylon.

The tea drinkers of Great Britain used to think that China tea was the finest, and 40 years ago consumed about 160 million pounds of it every year. Today they consume only about 10 million pounds, and instead get the bulk of their tea—as we do in Canada—from India and Ceylon.

WAS RARE TREAT

Just as our taste for tea has changed with the years, so have our tea-drinking habits. In the 17th century, for instance—when tea was a very expensive drink instead of being the most economical on the market as it is nowadays—the Dutch hostess would serve her guests with 10 or more cups of tea each. The conversation would be confined exclusively to the tea and the cake that were served with it. In other words, it was quite the fashion to hold a tea party instead of a cocktail party!

STEADY SPREAD

Although today the English custom of taking afternoon tea is traditional, it was not until the 19th century that the idea became part of the daily life of people of all classes in England. Ever since then the idea seems to have been spreading steadily to other parts of the world.

In many homes in Canada, tea in the afternoon is a solidly established and well appreciated custom. And how pleasant and refreshing this afternoon tea drinking is—besides providing a splendid opportunity for an informal social gathering.

Then, too, the traditional custom of drinking tea for breakfast is becoming more and more popular with Canadians, who find it gives them a refreshing kick-off to the day.

Wide Variety Revealed in Tea Recipes

Most of us drink our tea with milk and/or sugar, but this is only one of many ways in which tea can be served. Some people enjoy it clear, others with lemon. For a real energy builder, add honey to clear tea and for variety drop in a clove with the lemon or stir with a cinnamon stick.

Tea, too, is a perfect base for cold or hot punches. No other beverage blends as well with fruit juices and other flavorings, hot or iced. If you haven't yet tried blending fruit juices with tea as a base, you have missed out on a series of delightful new taste sensations. Here are a few tested recipes which you might like to try.

- HOT TEA PUNCH
Half cup granulated sugar, 1/4 cup water, 1 3-inch stick cinnamon, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1/2 teaspoon orange juice, 1/2 cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/4 cup pineapple juice, 1 cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons tea leaves or 3 tea bags.
- In saucepan combine sugar, water, cinnamon, lemon and orange rind. Boil 5 minutes. Remove cinnamon stick. Add orange, lemon and pineapple juices; keep hot. Meanwhile, pour boiling water over tea; let stand 5 minutes. Strain. Combine with fruit mixture. Serve hot. Makes 4 to 8 teacup servings or 12 to 16 punch-cup servings.
- AROMATIC TEA
One tablespoon grated orange rind, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 4 whole cloves, 4 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup tea bags, 1/2 cup orange juice, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup water; let stand 5 minutes. Strain. Combine with fruit mixture. Serve hot. Makes 4 to 8 teacup servings or 12 to 16 punch-cup servings.
- HONEY SPICED TEA
Four level tablespoons of black tea, 2 level tablespoons of whole cloves, 1 cup strained orange juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup honey, 1/2 cup freshly boiled hot water.
- Four five cups boiling water over tea and cloves; steep for 5 minutes, strain. Add orange and lemon juices, honey and the remaining 3 cups of hot water. Strain until honey is thoroughly dissolved. This makes a really delicious drink.
- RANDMAN SIP
One and a half cups boiling water, 2 level tablespoons of tea leaves, 1/2 cup warm milk, sugar to taste.
- Four boiling water over tea; let stand 3 minutes. Strain. Use to fill each teacup half full. The fill with warm milk. Add sugar to taste. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Unions Protest Plan to Shift Coast Guard Base

SEATTLE (AP)—Representatives of two maritime unions told a Coast Guard board that a proposed shift of the CG's Pacific Northwest air base from Port Angeles to Seattle would endanger the safety of seafarers.

Protesting the transfer of facilities were Capt. Merle D. Adlum, representing the Masters, Mates and Pilots' Union, and Maxie Weisbarth, Seattle port agent for the Sailors' Union of the Pacific.

Adlum protested on the grounds Seattle is 30 to 40 minutes more flight time away from danger areas of the Strait of Juan de Fuca and Cape Flattery than Port Angeles. He also said Seattle air traffic is more congested than Port Angeles and more likely to be affected by fog and other adverse weather conditions.

The board plans to hold a public hearing at Port Angeles Wednesday.

Mother Saves Girl, 3, But Boy Drowns

NAKUSP (CP)—Sterling Sinnerud, five, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Sinnerud of Nakusp, was drowned Sunday when a boat capsized on Pingson Creek, 25 miles north of here.

Mrs. Sinnerud, her three-year-old daughter and the boy were in the small boat when it capsized. Mrs. Sinnerud managed to hold the little girl's head above water and clinging to the boat until her husband reached the boat from shore.

The body was not recovered.

Bulgarian Fires Aide, Friend of Malenkov

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin today fired Minister of Culture Georgi Alexandrov.

Moscow radio said Alexandrov was sacked on Bulganin's recommendation "because he failed to ensure the leadership of the ministry of culture."

Alexandrov was known in Moscow as a friend of recently deposed premier Georgi Malenkov.

LIVING EXAMPLE

He seems a living example of the philosophy which he teaches. As a boy he was sickly. Moreover, he stuttered. He was sensitive and a victim of an inferiority complex. It was thought that he would not live because of his weakened physical condition, but one day Amos Parrish had a spiritual experience. Faith dawned in his mind, and from then on he knew that with the help of God and the utilization of his own powers he could achieve.

TEA TASTING IS A FINE ART, says Mrs. Violet Lillico, of Vancouver, Canada's only woman tea taster, who is one of the Dominion's busiest women. Here at her revolving taster's table, she judges a batch of samples. There are not more than half a dozen women tea tasters in the world.

FLAVOR MAINTAINED

Tea Taster's Skill Keeps Standard Up

You may have wondered why your favorite brand of tea always has the same flavor week after week, month after month. This is due in a large measure to the efforts of the tea taster.

The taster's discrimination makes it possible for him (or her) to match blends from year to year, even though some of the teas previously used have varied in quantity and quality.

Because of this seasonal variation many packers use as many as 25 to 30 teas in one blend, so that one more of the different teas may be omitted or replaced without the change being noticed.

Being a tea taster is a very skilled occupation.

KNOWS PLENTY

An expert tea taster can identify between 1,500 and 1,600 different teas, telling immediately where the particular tea was grown, what variety it is, what season of the year it was plucked, how it was processed, how much it should cost and how it should be blended.

All this sounds like magic, but it is done by the use of the tea taster's highly discriminating senses of taste and smell. It takes years and years to become an expert at this art.

Some of the characteristics which make up a good tea are flavor and aroma, pungency and strength of body. Teas from any one garden may possess many fine qualities, but lack others, and rarely is the tea from any one district a perfect "self-drinker."

WEATHER COUNTS

To make this more difficult for the tea taster, the quality from any one garden continually varies dependent upon weather conditions and the time of the year it was plucked.

Teas are therefore blended to produce a nice balance of the desirable properties to suit the water and the taste of the consumer in a district in which the tea is to be sold.

The teas which go into a blend are carefully tasted and then a miniature blend is produced which in turn is tasted. The proportion of each tea used is carefully noted and, if the blend proves satisfactory, the details are sent to the warehouse where the blend is prepared in bulk.

INVOLVED TECHNIQUE

To prepare a brew for tasting, the tea taster places a quantity of tea equal in weight to a

Exchange Teachers May Get Subsidies

Board to Study Plan to Match Contribution By Canadian Teachers to English Visitors

Greater Victoria School Board will study a proposal for payment of subsidies to British teachers who come to Canada on an exchange basis but whose wages are paid according to British scales.

There are two English teachers working in Victoria at present.

They are paid by their own school systems as are Canadian teachers who go to Britain for a year. Due to depreciated sterling values and lower rates of pay prevalent in England some of the English teachers find the Canadian living cost a hardship.

Greater Victoria Teachers' Association told the board that Canadian teachers are considering a plan whereby Canadian teachers going to England would donate 5 per cent of their salary, up to $300 a year, for the benefit of teachers coming to Canada.

They said that Toronto education officials had suggested school boards might match the amount.

School board finance committee will study the question and report at a future board meeting.

The board decided to advise the B.C. Catholic Education Association that it is outside the power of the board to intercede with municipal councils to have taxes on Catholic schools lowered or removed. A delegation from the association had attended a December board meeting.

School Board declined an offer of a block of seats at regular prices at the forthcoming CCF-sponsored Clement Attlee meeting at Memorial Arena. The event occurs on the same night as a regular school board meeting.

Visual education is apparently being more widely accepted in Greater Victoria schools every year. Building and grounds committee progress report, which lists for the board every minor project in each of the district schools proved that even unwritten laws are now being written. Requisition number 1988 at Mount View High School was for signs for the boys' locker room which read, "No Smoking."

School attendance in February showed a total enrollment of 15,171 students in Greater Victoria, an increase of 1,289 over the same month a year previous.

Both Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospital wrote to school board to praise the new system of conducting classes in the hospital for shut-in children. A report from teacher Miss P. Hamilton Smith at St. Joseph's indicated the ailing youngsters enjoy the classes. "Never before have I been chased down a corridor by a small boy in a wheel."

Records Debates Hansard, the record of parliamentary sittings, is named from the printer Luke Hansard who died in London in 1828.

Saanich Union Asks Firing Of Workers Who Won't Join

Saanich Municipal Employees' Association requested Saanich Council Monday to dismiss two employees because they have refused to join the union.

Council referred the matter to the municipal solicitor for advice.

The union in a letter to council said the two men have been receiving all the benefits of union agreements, but have continually refused to pay their union dues or to join the association.

HIRED LAST YEAR

The two men were employed by the municipality last year. Under a working agreement with the municipality, the association pointed out, the council agreed employees would have to join the union after serving a probationary period of employment. It asked council to live up to its contract.

Reeve Joseph Casey said he did not believe the municipality was obliged to carry out the terms of its contract because the agreement expired on Feb. 1.

"I don't like this," said Cllr. Ronald Grant. "Does this mean a man must have a license in order to work?"

"Yes," replied the reeve. Cllr. Grant said he was against forcing people to join unions.

MPs Quiz Defense Chief Campney On Thefts in B.C. Army Camps

OTTAWA (CP) — Defense Minister Campney Monday told the Commons that thefts were uncovered at No. 11 works company, Royal Canadian Engineers, at Vancouver by the improved auditing system recommended in the Currie report.

The 1952 report by Montreal accountant George S. Currie found a general breakdown in administration of the army works services at Camp Petawawa, Ont., and recommended a system for stricter control.

Mr. Campney said in reply to Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Esquamalt-Saanich) that an investigation into the Vancouver thefts was initiated by the commanding officer of No. 11 works company after a routine check uncovered shortages. The company's commanding officer is Lieut.-Col. G. H. McManus, 41, of Halifax.

Mr. Campney added the routine check was based on improvements in stores auditing recommended by the Currie report and adopted by the army.

CIVILIANS INVOLVED? He said he hopes the investigation will be completed in the next two weeks and that civilians as well as military personnel "appear" to be involved.

Mr. Campney said the alleged irregularities in No. 11 works company involve trafficking in hand tools. A "very considerable number" of persons had been questioned.

Referring to reports that the Vancouver thefts date back to 1945, Mr. Campney said thefts which occurred in 1945 and 1946 already had been investigated and dealt with.

Harold E. Winch (CCF-Vancouver East) asked whether a report will be made to the Commons when investigation into the thefts is completed by the RCMP and the army provost corps.

Mr. Campney said it isn't usual to table reports of the RCMP and the provost corps.

Mr. Winch said a report on any investigation into the use of public funds should be made to the Commons.

Second-place finishers in the Western Hockey League, Victoria Cougars host Calgary Stampeders in the

Pelletier Question Mark; Calgary Coach Confident

Cougar Goalie Injured

By BILL WALKER

Condition of goalie Marcel Pelletier was the unknown factor facing the Cougars at press time as they awaited tonight's opening Western Hockey League semifinal playoff game against Calgary Stampeders at Memorial Arena.

Although Pelletier, injured in a freakish accident at home Sunday night, is expected to play, it is by no means definite. If he doesn't league standby goalie Bev Bentley of Saskatoon Quakers will take his place in the Cougar goal.

Bentley arrived in the city early this morning. Pelletier suffered a deep gash in the sole of his foot while playing with his child. Fearful that the youngster might fall and take a quick step forward and stepped on the base of the coffee table with his bare foot. It required two stitches to close the wound. He was unable to practice Monday, stating that he experienced difficulty in making sudden moves.

Final decision on Pelletier will not likely be made until immediately prior to game time and following medical examination of the injury.

PREDICTS VICTORY
As a result coach Billy Reay was in a dour frame of mind although he went so far as to predict a Cougar triumph over the Stamps in six games.

Besides the possible loss of Pelletier, three other members of the team were suffering from colds Monday. The afflicted were Pete Durham, Mickey Keating and Ed Dorohey.

SAME LINES
Reay plans no line-up changes from what the Cougars have been using of late. Ed Dorohey will centre Andy Heberton and Doug Macauley; Barton Bradley will pivot Colin Kilburn and Alex Kuzma, and Gene Achtymichuk will back up Mark Marquess and Bill Bucyk on the wings.

Reay himself will possibly alternate at centre with Bradley or Achtymichuk, while pairing with Heberton in a penalty-killing role. Kuzma and Kilburn will be the alternates if needed.

Defensive chores will be handled by the pairings of Durham and Bill Davidson, and Walt Clune and Keating. Cougars hold a season's edge of six to four in games over the Stamps, and have outscored the cowboys, 33-24, in the 10 games between the two clubs. Game time is 8:30.

Three Possibles In Gun Club Shoot
Three 25 possibilities highlighted shooting at Victoria Gun Club in continuation of trophy competition Sunday.

In the Colonel Class A competition, Ray Yee was the leader with 25x25, while T. Zaccarelli fired a 25x25 in the C & C class B event.

George Goy shot a 25x25 in the C & C class C event. Ray Bertola shot 18x25 to lead the George Walton class D shooters, and Herb Handyside topped the Zaccarelli doubles with 20x25.

Newcastle Favored
LONDON (AP) — Britain's bookmakers Monday made Newcastle United 7 to 4 favorites to win the Football Association Cup.

Sunderland were 2 to 1 betting shots, Manchester City 9 to 4 and York City 100 to 7. Semifinals will be on Saturday. The final is scheduled for May 7. All are first division teams except third division York.

Playoff Pot-o-Gold Worth Cool $25,000

A nest egg of $25,000 goes up for grabs tonight as Victoria Cougars meet Calgary Stampeders in the opening game of their Western Hockey League semifinal series.

That's the plum at stake for the WHL club which can enter and win the post-season Edinburgh Trophy series from the Quebec Hockey League champions.

Broken down, the dollar derby works like this: Winner of each WHL series will receive the sum of $7,500, loser $3,750. Winner of the Edinburgh Trophy series receives $10,000, loser $7,500.

With two series to be played in the WHL playdowns, the victorious club can earn $15,000, and then be assured of at least $7,500 for competing in the east-west series, and an extra $2,500 by winning that series.

Last year, in comparison, the Stamps, by winning the league playoffs and the Edinburgh Trophy series, earned $25,300. The breakdown was slightly different last year in that six WHL clubs participated in the play-offs, and three series were necessary to determine the champions.

This year the champions can earn approximately the same for less work. It seems worth the effort.

GORGE SEEKS 1956 B.C. GOLF MEET

Gorge Vale Golf Club has applied for the 1956 B.C. Ladies' Golf Tournament. It was announced Monday night at the 26th annual general meeting of the club.

H. I. Johnston was re-elected president at the meeting and C. M. Holland was voted vice-president. Elmer Hume was returned for his sixth term as club captain.

Directors who will serve two-year terms are R. Johnston, Sandy Mitchell and J. D. Catlow.

YORKTON WINS

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Yorkton Terriers exploded for five second-period goals here Monday night to down Vernon Canadians 5-4 in the fourth game of the Allan Cup quarter-final series.

Terriers showed a complete reversal in form over their previous two starts in chalking up the victory that deadlocked the best-of-seven series.

Wings, Habs Favored In NHL Semis Tonight

By British United Press
The Detroit Red Wings were rested and confident, but the Montreal Canadiens were tired and doubtful as they prepared for their opening games tonight in the National Hockey League playoffs.

The Red Wings, who edged out Montreal for their seventh straight league pennant Sunday night, entertain the Toronto Maple Leafs, while the Canadiens play host to the Boston Bruins in the first games of the best-of-seven semifinal series.

Both home teams are heavy favorites. However, Montreal coach Dick Irvin, still disheartened over the suspension of Maurice (Rocket) Richard, frankly admitted that "I don't see how we can win."

"You just can't replace on a 40-goal man in such a short series," he added. "Why, he (Richard) is worth three or four players in the playoffs."

Meanwhile, Detroit general manager Jack Adams said, "I'm not predicting we'll win the Stanley Cup, but it will take a superhuman effort to keep us from winning."

The odds-makers apparently were in agreement with Adams, having installed the Red Wings as 2½ to 1 favorites to capture the cup for the second straight year.

Toronto also must face the Red Wings without one of their star players. Tim Horton, a rock-'em, sock-'em defenseman of the old school, suffered a broken leg and jaw eight days before the end of the regular season. His place on the Maple Leafs' back line has been taken by Marc Reaume, a 20-year-old rookie up from Pittsburgh of the American League.

ALBERNI, B.C. (CP) — The all-around play of coach Elmer Speidel and sharp-shooting Ron Bissett led Alberni Athletics to an easy 7-56 victory over Vancouver Cloverleafs here tonight in the fifth game of the B.C. senior "A" men's basketball finals.

Alberni now leads the best-of-seven series 3-2 with the sixth game scheduled for Vancouver Friday night. The seventh game, if necessary, will also be played in Vancouver Saturday. Athletics turned on the pressure from the opening whistle and appeared to keep the Vancouver quintet off balance throughout. Vancouver's attack slipped further in the second period when high scoring centre Bob Pickel fouled out.

Alberni lead 35-29 at the half.

Currie Predicts Tight Series

By BILL WALKER

Coach Frank Currie of the defending champion Calgary Stampeders expressed quiet confidence today in regard to the Western Hockey League semifinal series opening here tonight against Victoria's Cougars.

"I expect our team to go real well," he said, while discounting the possible home-ice advantage of the Cougars for the first two games of the series.

"Home ice doesn't make that much difference," he said.

Regarding the Stamps' tough fight to win a playoff position, Currie said:

"We have had a lot of tough luck this season and weren't able to settle down. But we're coming back now and I expect a terrific series."

Currie also expressed the opinion that the WHL semifinal pairings this year are about the best that could be designed.

"Both series should be hard fought," he commented. (Edmonton Flyers host Vancouver Canucks in the other semi-final.)

LITTLE CHANGED

The Stamps are little changed from last year, when they eliminated the Cougars.

Main additions are goalie Doug Stevenson, who has replaced Bill Brennan, and Gerry "Doc" Couture, the NHL veteran who this season led Calgary pointmakers with 82 points on 33 goals and 49 assists.

Other big names for the Stamps are Sid Finney (35 goals), Jim McFadden (30), Steve Wituk (26), Pat Lundy (28) and Ray Barry (24).

Johnny Michaluk is the only late-season replacement, taking the place of Fred Hucul, who is out with injuries.

Alberni Captures B.C. Championship

Alberni bantam girls, defeating Brentwood 26-18, won the British Columbia basketball championship in the final game of the two-day tournament Saturday night at Vancouver.

Cumberland took the bantam boys' championship by defeating Vancouver Kits-Vindex 22-20 for their fourth straight victory. Victoria Eagles lost both their games, the first to Cumberland, 38-24, and the second to Vancouver Ellers 24-22.

First United Wins

The Victoria midget boys' basketball championship was won by First United who downed Tillicums 23-22 in the second game of a two-game total-point series at Central Junior High School last week. First United took the first game, 32-20.

QUEBEC (CP) — Shawinigan Falls Cataracts, who returned to the Quebec Hockey League this year, skated off with the championship. The Cataracts, coached by Roger Leger, wound up the regular season Sunday with a 14-point margin over their nearest rivals, Quebec Aces.

Scoring champion of the league was Kelly Burnett, stylish forward of Montreal Royals, the team which finished third. Burnett registered 30 goals and 45 assists for 75 points.

Shawinigan Falls and Chicoutimi Sagueniens, who finished fourth in the standings, meet in one semi-final series while Quebec and Montreal clash in the other.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The Cougars and Stampeders start over again tonight—the Cougars still where the Stamps finished last year; the Stamps hoping to carry on to a second successive Western Hockey League title victory.

But is the shoe designed to fit the other foot this time? Last year the Stamps had the power, the goaling and the depth. And they won the series hands down with no post-mortems.

This year the Cougars have more power, more than they had last year; more goalkeeping, much more than they had in Claude Evans last year; and more depth, simply because they go into this year's series at a much higher physical condition than was their fortune during the five games it took for the Stamps to polish them off a year ago.

Cougars also enter the series with a better-balanced club and a club that has proven itself in the stretch run to second place.

The Stamps, meanwhile, obviously have fallen off from last season. It took them all they had to make the series, even though they did it themselves by winning the final two games they had to win.

The question then is: Have the Cougars come ahead as far as the Stamps have fallen back or has one passed the other in the process?

Cougars Best Defensively

Offensively the Stampeders appear to have the edge, but in the Cougars they are meeting the best defensive club in the league. Defensively then the nod goes to the Cougars.

Last year faulty goalkeeping was the main factor contributing to the Cougars' downfall because they never had that big man in the net who could make that big stop. This year Marcel Pelletier has more than filled the bill.

The Stamps, in comparison, have in Doug Stevenson one of the real veterans of the circuit. When he's good, he's very, very good; but when he's ordinary, he needs more help than the Stampeders' defensive record shows they have been able to give consistently this season.

The Stamps are composed mostly of veteran performers, and play-off-wise and tested; and they need only to reach a reasonable facsimile of last year's form to be a dangerous contender for the league title they now own.

Local Outlook Brighter This Year

The Cougars, on the other hand, have hit their best lick through the closing weeks of the regular season and need only to retain their ginger to give anyone a rattle for the championship.

Certainly they have a manpower advantage over what they had last season at this time when Sam Lavitt was out with a broken foot, Tony Schneider was playing with an ankle that more resembled a football, Colin Kilburn was handicapped by an ankle injury, and Ross Lowe was playing himself into exhaustion on defense, losing 12 pounds in weight as he did so.

It should be quite a series. And that early foot is so important, tonight's contest could be the real indicator.

OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

Members of the Victoria Fish and Game Association who like to wrap their molars around a hunk of roast pheasant, heard some arid-dampening news recently from Vancouver Island game biologist, Don Robinson.

Robinson, guest speaker at one of the Fish-Game meetings, told the club members that planting of pheasants was providing such a poor return on the invested dollar that the practice likely would be discontinued.

Mr. Robinson told the club members that the upper Island association had voted to take funds formerly ticketed for pheasant planting and use them for increasing habitat for up-Island birds, research, improvement of hunter-farmer relations and other projects that might have a more intrinsic return.

Boyd

However, one of the Fish-Game Association members queried Mr. Robinson on the feasibility of a spring season for the succulent blue grouse. The proposal had been put forward by a professional forestry engineer at a B.C. game convention last year.

Mr. Robinson was in complete concurrence with the proposal and backed up his opinions with some extremely logical reasoning.

Mr. Robinson pointed out:

1. Less than 2 per cent of the blue grouse crop is harvested by hunters each year. Yet 25 per cent, one out of four blue grouse die from natural causes each year, a percentage that could be cropped by hunters, rather than by natural causes.

2. During the Fall season, no less than 98 per cent of adult birds shot are hens yet it is the cock birds that the biologists wish cropped.

3. In Spring, the cock birds precede the hens to the breeding grounds by two or three weeks, which would give hunters ample time to crop the cock birds without endangering the hens.

4. Thinning out of cock birds would not harm breeding since the hen grouse covers an area of 20 acres or more during breeding season while the cock bird remains in an area of about one acre, indicating that fewer cock birds would not create an imbalance.

With this information as ammunition, it is likely the Victoria Fish and Game Association will lobby for the institution of a Spring season on Blue Grouse.

The Goldstream end of Saanich Inlet, particularly in that rewarding stretch between the Island and The Narrows, is still boiling with one and two-pound bluebacks and limit catches are becoming common-place.

In the early morning, bucktails are the deadly lure, fished on the surface with 50 to 100 feet of line. Fishing is inclined to tail off around 10 in the morning but usually picks up again in the mid-afternoon. However, in the afternoon, spoons and plugs come into play.

Pat McLean and R. Hudson made one of the best-week-end catches on Saturday. In the morning they boated 10 blues and later took 10 Springs, running from five to seven pounds. The Springs were taken on small spoons with two to four ounces of weight.

On Sunday, Tony Rosin and G. Anderson picked up 14 Blues and six nice Springs, the big ones going for the always popular Highliner plug.

Besides flies, Blues are taking the Kamlure, fished with two or three ounces of weight, and the spinner and worm combination. Incidentally, the newest Kamlure is treated with a plastic "bath," preventing the leakage that ruins so many of the miniature plugs after immersion.

Hall's Boatouse reports 10-limit catches of Blues on Saturday, eight more limits on Sunday and enough partial limits to fill an entire column.

Early Mist Favored For Grand National

LONDON (AP) — Britain's top bookies Monday slashed the odds of Early Mist from 100 to 8 to 21 to 2 at a betting call-over on Saturday's Grand National — the world's stiffest steeplechase.

Early Mist, 1953 winner of the Aintree classic, was made 100 to 8 favorite at last Friday's call-over with Tudor Line and Cossander bracketed second favorites at 100 to 7.

"Early Mist is plainly one of the two class chasers in the field—I would say the other is Mariner's Log — and I feel he has a very real chance," Robin Goodfellow, Daily Mail racing expert, wrote after the last call-over. Just before that Early Mist came fourth in the Cheltenham Gold Cup—but jumped well.

Early Mist, a 10-year-old Irish-trained chestnut gelding, is down to carry 171 pounds over the testing four miles, 856 yards, 30-jump course. Only

City Plans Three-Team Island Entry

Baseball in Victoria this summer will probably consist of a two or three-team entry in the new Lower Vancouver Island Amateur Baseball League.

Plans for the lower Island circuit were discussed Monday night at the annual general meeting of the Greater Victoria Amateur Baseball Association.

Ron Coulter was elected president of the Victoria body and announced today that the city would have two, and possibly three teams joining Duncan and Chemainus in the new league.

Farmer Construction, under Ed Ash and Lorne Buchanan, filed entry at Monday's meeting and it is hoped entries will be filed by the Eagles and Navy.

All entries must be filed in writing by April 15. A meeting of entered teams will be held April 17 to set up working arrangements and complete a schedule. Teams this year will keep their home game receipts.

In addition to Coulter, executive members elected Monday night were: Arthur Cox, vice-president; Bill Bridgwood, secretary-treasurer; Les Entwistle, chairman of events; Jack Bryce, equipment chairman, and Bert Nex, Vally Thompson, Gordon Robson, Bill Cull, George Murphy, Colin Kilburn and PO I. Irwin, directors.

A meeting of the 18-and-under league will be held Sunday at the Eagles' Home, View Street, at which entries will be received.

Canadian Girl Sets Pan-Am Swim Record

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Swimming coach Tommy Walker of Toronto was all smiles today after Canada's scrappy four-man team placed third in the 400-metre medley relay swim Monday and Lenore Fisher of Ocean Falls, B.C., smashed the Pan-American Games record for the women's 100-metre backstroke.

The Canadian quartet finished behind the United States and Argentina to give Canada its first third placing since the games got under way 10 days ago. Two Canadian girls came in fourth and fifth in the synchronized swimming individual competition.

And with eight Canadians already qualified in five events at 100-metre distances, the swimmers seem to have a golden opportunity to pick up a goodly number of points for Canada and perhaps even a gold medal.

Miss Fisher, 18-year-old blonde Canadian backstroke champion, established a games record in winning the second qualifying heat of the 100-metre backstroke with a time of one minute, 16.8 seconds. Just a moment before, in the first heat, Cynthia Gill of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., lowered the mark with 1:17.6.

Miss Fisher and 14-year-old Sarah Barber of Brantford, Ont., who finished third behind Miss Gill, were among eight women who entered the finals set for Thursday.

Monday Canadian swimmers picked up nine points, the best day for Canada in the games. Based on the 10-5-4-3-2-1 method of scoring for the first six finishers, Canada captured four points in the men's swim, and five in the synchronized event to make it 12 all told for swimming.

Checks on 'Gambling' Gives Market Stability

The 95 Victorians who braved Monday night's wet, windy weather to gather at Oak Bay Junior High School had a chance to play like Senator Fulbright and conduct their own inquiry into the stock market.

Their "witness" was George E. Beves, vice-president of Calvin Bullock Limited, long-established investment management corporation of Montreal. Mr. Beves appeared before the meeting, arranged by James Richardson & Sons, to discuss mutual funds.

At the conclusion of his prepared address he invited questions concerning mutual funds in general and Canadian Investment Fund in particular, which Calvin Bullock manages.

The audience, however, did not limit its enquiries to mutual funds. Among other things, questioners asked Mr. Beves if he thought the present was a good time to invest, and if he thought there was a danger of another big market crash.

His answer to the first was the cautious variety used regularly by investment advisers. "I think you can buy without too much risk," he said, but stipulated that careful thought had to be given to the selection of a suitable security.

His answer to the second was more direct and outspoken.

"In my opinion," he said, "there won't be the rampant gambling which led to the 1929 crash. There are too many government controls and the men in the business today are too wise to permit that sort of thing."

Earlier in his remarks, Mr. Beves advised against the practices of selling short and buying on margin.

"To me," he said, "those things smack of gambling. It's buying what you can't afford and selling what you haven't got."

TODAY'S MARKET SUMMARIES

Steels Hit Hardest In Industrial Drop

TORONTO (CP)—The market eased slightly in most major sections in heavy afternoon trading today.

Steels led industrials down and the index showed a drop of 1.25 points at 2 p.m. Gains and losses were mostly balanced among the papers, utilities, liquors, refining oils and manufacturers but the foods and financial institutions edged higher.

Bell Telephone, trading ex-rights, dropped $1.50 to $45 and Du Pont $1.25 to $25 for a 1955 low.

Among the base metals, Quebec Metallurgical dropped 20 cents and Beaucage 20 cents.

General Petroleum jumped 30 cents among western oils but Anglo-Canadian fell 20.

LONDON (Reuters) — Continued talk of an early election and the heavy close on Wall Street overnight depressed sentiment here.

Some early losses in glit-edged stocks were reduced and in the case of undated issues recovered.

NEW YORK (AP)—The market advanced and in the early afternoon had regained a mafor portion of Monday's moderate loss.

Prices went to around 2 points higher, with a few exceeding that limit, and there were fractional losses.

Steels were outstanding, along with railroads. They were followed up by coppers, aircrafts and motors. Distillers were quietly lower. Utilities remained steady.

Canadian stocks were mostly lower. Distillers Seagram was off ¼ and Dome Mines ¾, while International Nickel added ½.

On the American stock exchange Royalite Oil was off ¼ and Lake Shore ½.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks moved fractionally lower in active trading.

Bell sold ex-rights, off 1½ at 45½. Other soft spots included Aluminum down 1½ and Price ½ lower.

General Dynamics rose 1½ and Weston ½.

Heaviest losers were base metals and papers although losses were scattered throughout all sections of the industrial market.

Mines were irregular with Bathurst up 25 cents, Beaucage off 35 cents and Cassiar 15 easier.

Veefkind, Duncan, won a special prize from the company for having a March birthday. Refreshments were served after the show by ladies of Cobble Hill.

N. Cowichan Council Will Consider Foreshore Plans

CHEMAINUS—North Cowichan council is prepared to consider concrete proposals for the use of Chemainus foreshore on the understanding that two parties concerned with the foreshore agree to them. The problem of foreshore use was discussed at a meeting here when Ning Chang, representing Chang Bros., and George Hemmingsen and Ham Baillie, of Chemainus Towing Co., expressed their desire to "get together." The foreshore in question had once been in provincial reserve, but had been taken out. Some time ago the municipality recommended once again that the property be taken in provincial reserve, but no action has been taken by Victoria.

PAYROLL $60,000

The towing company's site originally had been released for one towboat, Mr. Baillie said, but the company now has 10 boats, employs 21 men, and has an annual payroll of $60,000. Mr. Hemmingsen remarked that the company had been on the foreshore long before Chang Bros. received their rights, but Reeve C. A. P. Murison said "Mr. Chang is the present upland owner with prior rights." Harry Ewart, president of Chemainus Ratepayers' Association, said he had been instrumental in having the two parties meet on the matter, and that it would be "a crying shame if the towboat business

INDIANS NEED ORGANIZATION SAYS EDITOR

SECHLT (CP)—While Canada needs new citizens "it must not be at the expense of the native Indians," Mrs. T. F. Hurley said at a special meeting at Sechelt Indian village. Editor of the Native Voice, monthly periodical which details activities of Indians in B.C., Mrs. Hurley stressed the necessity for organization and said any ideas of taking the Indians off reservations were foolish.

AOTS Secretary Spending Week With V.I. Clubs

Poole, Vancouver, executive secretary of the National Association of AOTS Clubs who has just completed a tour of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes, will observe the following schedule on Vancouver Island: Thursday—Address to the Duncan club following its regular meeting. Mrs. J. M. Alexander welcomed the children and the 50 mothers who attended. Mrs. J. K. Lumsden thanked the following teachers, who were hostesses at the party: Mrs. C. B. Millar, Mrs. A. Kerley, Mrs. R. Smillie, Mrs. E. Mason, Mrs. W. Cullum, Miss Bev Findlay and Miss Ione Herbert. Members of the evening branch of the WA helped with refreshments.

Safe Plundered; No Estimate Made of Loss

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery. In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing. All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Sooke Players Well Received In Melodrama

SOOKE—An audience attentive to every word demonstrated the success of the suspense melodrama, "Ladies in Retirement," presented here Saturday by Sooke Players as part of the annual membership drive of Sooke Community Association.

In full control of the difficult role of Ellen Creed, Mrs. W. A. Conder turned in an excellent performance, as did Len Stewart as Albert Feather, the jaunty gay nineties "cad."

The part of Leonora Fiske, retired chorus girl, was handled capably by Mrs. R. G. Horgan. Comedy relief and a touch of pathos were added by the two zany sisters, Louisa and Emily Creed, who were acted by Mrs. J. Westad and Mrs. G. R. Kendrew.

Mrs. L. Stewart took the part of Lucy, the maid, and was most attractive as the flirting country girl who was fair game for the attentions of Albert. Sister Theresa was played by Mrs. R. Acreman.

Scenery was by W. A. Conder. The play was directed by Doug Forrester and Mrs. M. Floyer was prompter.

Introductory remarks were made by George Jones, president of the Community Association.

Dreams Come True for Couple, 65

Retire on $200 A Month
A popular Quebec druggist and his wife recently retired on $200 a month for life. Their dreams of security and comfort have come true, thanks to a decision the druggist made in 1925.

It was then he took out a Confederation Life Insurance Pension Plan which included $20,000 insurance protection. He had just opened his store... and with the baby and the payments on his home, he had only so much left for retirement plans. It was a pleasant surprise when his Confederation Man told him how easily his dreams could come true—without risks or investment worries.

You'll be pleasantly surprised too at how easily you can make your dreams come true—and protect your loved ones at the same time—with a Confederation Life Pension Plan with Insurance.

let's take another look

Wills, like fashions, have a way of getting out of date much sooner than you might expect. A year or two can make surprising changes in the requirements of your estate, for time can play tricks with your best intentions.

How long is it since you have had a look at your will?

During the past year more Canadians have sought our advice in the planning of their estates than in any previous year in the history of our company. This is due largely to the reputation our trust officers have established as able and sympathetic advisors, and to the growing need for intelligent estate planning.

TORONTO DISTANCE SWIMMER
Janice White, pictured working out in the Inner Harbor, is an independent individual. She resents persons who have tried to "get in on the act" and has rejected a sponsorship offer. In fact, she's debating whether she should tell anyone from which part of the city's shoreline she'll depart on March 30. (Times Photo by Strickland.)

"THE WATER'S COLD, BUT NOT NEARLY AS COLD AS THE AIR," says Tacoma's Bert Thomas, ex-U.S. Marine, who plans assault on the Strait of Juan De Fuca in the near future. The burly, 275-pound logger is pictured before he plunged into the water for a four-hour workout this afternoon. Thomas is getting down to intensive training, and today was accompanied by Island Tug & Barge's Captain Hugh Evans, who will be his navigator. They left Causeway on a 32-foot launch owned by H. J. Sims.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Confidant say, "man who fail to write own stuff must be ready to stand the guff."

Last week, on the third birthday of Between Times, I invited the constituents to write their own columns.

Did they? Brother!

Exempli gratia, as Nero said when he fiddled with Rome:

"This space could be used to better advantage for general news. There is neither wit nor wisdom in anything you write. No one is interested in what you and your wife say to each other—you write about little else." (NO NAME OR ADDRESS).

"This will advise you of my sincere appreciation of your VERY clever daily humor. I am glad to have this opportunity to write this to you. Some of your columns I have cut out to send East."

J. C. WRIGHT,
St. Patrick Street.

IT TAKES A LOT of "fuel" to feed a 275-pound frame, especially when it belongs to an individual planning to propel himself across 18 miles of unconquered water. But distance swimmer Bert Thomas says the cooks at Bernie Nicholls' Cherry Bank Hotel have a masterful touch with roast chicken.

RAW MEAT DIET is one of Janice White's hidden power sources. The plucky teen-ager is pictured taking her daily portion of raw minced steak. But says Janice: "Publicity won't help me now... it's just training, training and more training from here on in." But, she says, she must guard against overtraining—"a serious mistake."

ON STRAIT SWIM

Thomas Promises 'Surprise' Route

Hulking Bert Thomas, 275-pound ex-U.S. marine from Tacoma, today confidently claimed he has the best chance of conquering the 18-mile Strait of Juan de Fuca between Victoria and Port Angeles.

Thomas, before leaving the Inner Harbor on a four-hour training stint, spoke highly of Toronto's Janice White, who also will tackle the swim, but told the Times:

"I feel my chances are better than Miss White's. Men have more strength and stamina, and if the weight is in the right places, a much better chance."

Thomas also indicated he has a "secret weapon" in the course being charted for the swim.

"The people of Victoria will get quite a surprise when my navigator discloses the course for my swim," he said.

WILL SET DATE

His navigator is the Island Tug and Barge's Captain Hugh Evans, who accompanied Thomas this afternoon in a 32-foot launch owned by H. J. Sims.

Thomas will announce the date for his swim on April 1. "It'll be a closely-guarded secret until then," he said.

But Thomas' confidence about man's superiority over women isn't bothering Janice. She, too, is confident.

She can point to tremendous efforts by Toronto's Marilyn Bell and, of course, the fabulous Florence Chadwick.

Miss Chadwick's failure over the same route last summer isn't discouraging Miss White.

BATTLE LINES

"It's a challenge to me. I want to try it," she said. Thus, the battle lines are drawn between the male and female population.

And the training is getting down to a real serious business. Thomas has averaged two hours in the water daily since arriving here, and this probably will be stepped up.

Thomas' supporters are enthusiastic in their appraisal of his chances of crossing the channel.

"If anybody can swim that channel, it'll be someone with Thomas' build," said YMCA physical training director Archie McKinnon, who acted as trainer for Miss Chadwick.

In Miss White's camp, plans are progressing well towards the big day—3 a.m. March 30.

CITY CLUBS

DISCRIMINATE JAYCEES SAY

Racial discrimination is being practiced in a number of Victoria clubs and societies, the Junior Chamber of Commerce claimed today.

The report followed a survey conducted over the past several months on the question of discrimination within associations, fraternal groups, clubs and societies.

"It is with a great deal of regret that we announce that our survey reveals that racial discrimination is being practiced in a number of Victoria organizations," the Jaycee disclosure said.

It was termed "an unhealthy sign."

The chamber said that with democracy founded on equal rights for all, any semblance of racial or color superiority was a threat to the system.

There's also talk about a local concern offering $100 to either swimmer who goes further than Miss Chadwick last summer—about five miles.

Reeve Joseph Casey said the tax increase was due to Saanich property being under-assessed in past years. He said the government previously took care of the normal rise in school cost in its school grants.

This year, the reeve said, the municipality would receive $158,000 less in grants made direct to the municipality.

He said he made a statement earlier this year that he saw no reason why taxes should go up. He said this, he explained, because he thought the municipality would receive the same grants as last year.

BOLSTON FORMULA

The reeve said Saanich would have been better off under the Bolston school formula than under the new tax scheme. On the other hand, he pointed out, the city and other municipalities would enjoy a tax decrease under the new tax scheme.

"Why?" asked the councillors.

"Well, I suppose in the past some municipalities carried the tax load for others," the reeve said. "Now, it has been equalized."

Clr. S. W. Brock said council should protest to the provincial cabinet against the tax increase.

"Let us strike at the heart of this," he said. "Let's go and see the cabinet. This is important to all ratepayers."

MOST AWAY

Reeve Casey said he did not see how the council would be able to meet the cabinet as most of the ministers were away at present. But Clr. Brock insisted the council seek an interview with the cabinet.

Clr. Brock also criticized Saanich M.L.A. John Tisdale, for not watching the municipality's interests when the Legislature was in session.

"A good live member would have been prepared to fight for us and walk across the floor of the house," he said.

Clr. Ronald Grant asked the reeve if the member for Saanich had ever met Saanich Council to discuss the matter.

"Is he acquainted with the situation?" he asked.

Reeve Casey said Mr. Tisdale may have approached individual councillors but had never approached the council.

Clr. Fleming said council should go directly to the cabinet and ask for a special grant in some form.

"This question is serious," added Clr. Brock. "It will affect every ratepayer. We have no machinery to tax like the city. As the years go by the tax will progressively increase."

New Hospital For Saanich Aim of Group

Chamber Group Undaunted By Casey's Pessimism

Dr. R. H. Fraser, a member of Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce, said today a group of citizens will continue to fight for establishment of a $414,500 hospital in Saanich—despite opposition from Reeve Joseph Casey.

The move to establish a new hospital district in Saanich was disclosed by Reeve Casey at the conclusion of a Saanich Council meeting Monday.

The reeve, chairman of the Royal Jubilee Hospital Board, said he was opposed to the project, claiming it was "too far-fetched" and would be uneconomical.

The hospital plan is backed by the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce, a group of citizens and doctors. At calls for the establishment of a 50-bed hospital, including accommodations for preventive services, such as school dental and health services.

REEVE AT MEETING

Dr. Fraser said Reeve Casey was invited to attend a meeting at Brentwood to discuss the project with a group of citizens. He said the reeve arrived with George Masters, administrator of the Jubilee Hospital, and introduced him as his "advisor."

"He blew in and blew out before the meeting was over," said Dr. Fraser. "It seems to me it was a plan to kill the project in its embryo stage."

Dr. Fraser said there was a need of a new hospital district in view of the rapidly increasing population, which he said, may soon give rise to an acute shortage of beds. The proposed hospital could be expanded with time.

Under the scheme the federal and provincial governments would provide grants totaling $250,000 for building the hospital. Saanich's share would be $125,000, and Central Saanich and Sidney about $39,500.

Dr. Fraser said he did not entirely agree with Reeve Casey that a 50-bed hospital was considered the most uneconomical to run. "Most of the big hospitals are running at a deficit," he said. "The design of the proposed project would be such that it could be run on an economical basis."

Veteran Taxi-Man Died at Cab Wheel

Taxi driver James P. White died of a heart attack, Coroner E. C. Hart said today following an inquiry into the death of the 60-year-old cabbie.

Mr. White, who lived at 646 Boleskine, was found slumped across the seat of his cab Monday afternoon after the car went off the road and crashed through a brick wall and struck a house at 4138 Holland.

BROKEN WINDOW

Police said they attempted to enter the store by means of rear windows. One window was broken and an attempt was made to force another. The windows were barred across the inside.

Allan Price, suite 2, 902 Esquimalt Road, an apartment directly above the store, was attracted by the noise and phoned police.

Police said Price kept the two men under watch until they were arrested about two blocks from the store.

Easter Treats From Many Lands Now in Victoria

By PENNY SAVER

I've found so many surprises today I don't know where to begin. Holland, England, Wales, Scotland and Japan are the manufacturing countries for the luscious gems I've been viewing. Easter eggs from Holland are all made by a leading chocolate company of that country... and I've not tasted chocolate like it before. It's... well, the only word I can think of is "luscious." (Yes that fits it). For the wee tads in the family, you can buy a long "chicken hutch" that has a sliding unit which pulls out to display an assortment of chocolate chickens and eggs. As the tray moves, little animals appear at the windows of the hutch.

A bright red roof and windows and doors all add to the realistic appearance of this little gift. It costs only 95 cents. The hutch and tray can be used to store little treasures belonging to the small fry after all the candies are eaten.

Another item from Holland is a huge wooden shoe, all hollowed out and carved on the front. It is varnished and polished to a shiny finish. There's a chocolate egg resting right in the middle! After Easter, the shoe can be used for a planter... it measures about 19 inches! The cost? It's $4.95.

From Wales, there's a novel egg, especially for those people who don't like chocolate, or, for some reason or another, cannot eat it.

These eggs are made of pure white sugar. Frosting flowers perch on top, and at one end there is a small hole. Hold the egg up to the light, and peek into this opening, and there you'll see scenes from fairy tales... in three dimensions! I really had to chuckle when I saw them... what will they think of next. These eggs cost 45 cents and 65 cents, small or large to suit you.

On to Scotland... Easter eggs of pure chocolate open to show filled chocolates. The outside of the big egg is molded with animal pictures that will please the youngsters. Packed in adorable boxes that have a

Threatens to Leave His Wife Destitute

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Some husbands seem to delight in making their wives feel that they must obey them in everything regardless of their own feelings. Some even hold over their wives' heads the threat of leaving them penniless.

Hurlock

(Q)—"My husband has threatened to leave me and go to another state. This happens every time we have an argument or whenever I ask him for money for myself and our children, or object to his drinking and going around with other women. Now he tells me that the next time I say anything about his drinking, it will be my last chance to 'boos' him, as he calls it."

"We have three small children, the youngest less than a year old. I can't leave them and go out to work. My parents are old, in poor health, and have only a small pension to live on. It is hard enough for them to make ends meet as it is without me bringing the children to live with them. Also, I don't think my mother is well enough to take care of three small children while I go out to work. I feel trapped and don't know where to turn. What do you advise me to do?"

(A)—There are three pieces of advice I can give you. First, do not go back to your parents, except in a case of real emergency. It is not fair to them to give them this burden, and it is not fair to your children to deprive them of a mother's care while you go out to work.

Second, consult your minister about taking your problem to a domestic relations court to see if something can be done to make your husband behave as a husband and father should. If not, perhaps a legal separation with financial provision for you and the children would be the solution.

Finally, avoid antagonizing him until you get the law on your side. Otherwise he may carry out his threat and leave the state. Then you and the children would be destitute. I know it is hard to be "trapped" but look upon this only as a temporary condition, until you make some arrangements with the court.

Easter Bonnet Beauty? Check Coloring First

Yesterday I gave you some hints about your makeup colors and what shades to use in different lighting. We'll continue the discussion today.

If the lights are fluorescent, blue tones will flow to your face from all directions and these are aging. Therefore, fortify your makeup with pinker, deeper tones than you use in the daytime.

If the lights are incandescent, candle light or soft amber lights, they drain the pink from the skin and you will need more rouge. Do not apply this to one small spot, but blend it subtly over a large portion of your cheeks. You will need your most colorful lipstick and more eye makeup than usual.

Max Factor Junior has helped me help you to look your best on Easter Sunday. He suggests that if your costume in pink you should use pink makeup. If it has yellow tones use a coral lipstick. If your Easter bonnet is a dream, combining the new mauves, blues and violets, or an all in one color, choose a warm rose. If the bonnet of your choice is red use a clear, red lipstick. If your hat or costume is the new peanut shade or any color which needs life, make your lipstick a fiery red.

I think we too often forget when wearing a dress or suit of a neutral color, with a brightly colored hat, that our makeup must blend with our hat.

The idea of previewing a costume before wearing it is helpful. We should do this on every day, not just when preparing for Easter Sunday. Mr. Factor suggests that you try on your Easter costume and hat and stand in a bright light. Put on very little makeup at first. After you have donned your entire costume, add a little more rouge or lipstick, or change your colors, as needed.

If you would like to have my leaflet about makeup send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 50 "What's Going On?" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

RUSSIA MOVES INTO STYLE PICTURE

LONDON (Reuters)—Moscow had evolved a new silhouette for spring and summer coats—wide shoulders, emphasized with a large collar, narrowing downwards—Moscow radio said Monday night in a broadcast for women.

The new styles are now on show in the state general universal stores in Moscow's Red Square.

Spring and summer dresses will follow two tendencies, the radio said. They will feature a soft flowing bodice with a straight skirt, or a close-fitting bodice with a full skirt.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY...

Wednesday's child is one of those interesting youngsters who will enjoy studying and ferreting out all hidden and secret matters until he or she understands what it's all about. Therefore, education that has to do with research, laboratory, investigations, behind-the-scenes development of interesting ideas would prepare for vocations that are most suitable to your highly-talented progeny. However, it is necessary that you early teach your offspring to finish whatever is once started, or success is greatly lessened by lack of following through.

Campbell River Area Gets Needed Rainfall

Close to an inch of rain fell on the Campbell River watershed Sunday and Monday to help maintain the level of the critically low Ladore Falls dam that supplies water to the John Hart development turbines and generators.

Water in storage is down to 30 per cent of capacity, and B.C. Power Commission officials are taking all possible steps to avert a "brownout" on Vancouver Island.

Local assistance is being given by the Brentwood steam plant of the B.C. Electric, running three shifts, and the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. power house.

CAPACITY
The mill power house usually "loafs" on the night shift, but now is running to capacity and feeding all excess power beyond mill use to the Bay Street substation of the B.C. Electric. Fuel for the extra running is being provided by the power commission.

A similar arrangement has been made with MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. at Port Alberni. Also scheduled to be producing shortly is a portable generating unit, mounted on a barge and expected at Oyster Bay, near Ladysmith, from the mainland today. B.C. Power Commission engineers have arranged for a temporary substitution to handle the additional production.

LEVELS UP
Meanwhile dredging undertaken at the outlet of Buttle Lake by the power commission, to free 60,000 acre-feet of water from the lake is beginning to take effect. Reservoir levels rose noticeably as the water poured through Campbell River to Upper Campbell Lake, then down river to the Lower Campbell Lake storage basin.

Rain fell all Monday afternoon at Campbell River but residents gave little credit to California rainmaker John Walker who on Friday established silver oxide generators at west coast points.

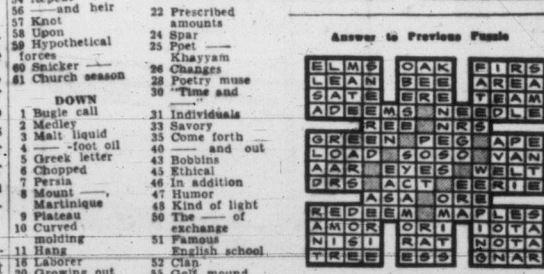

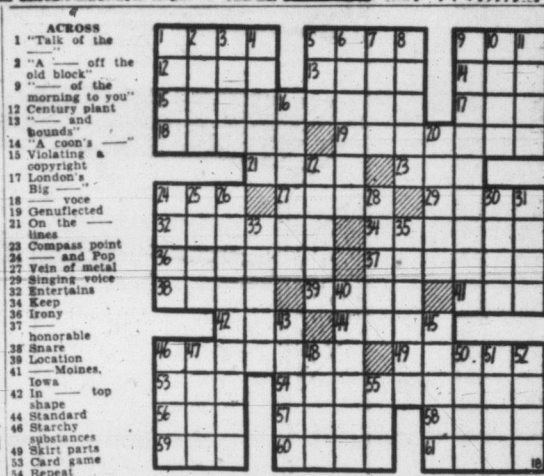

Friday and Saturday were clear, observers said and winds Sunday came from the south-east instead of from the west where the machines are established.

CONTROL ASKED
At the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here a motion to ask the federal government for some form of control of rainmaking was defeated.

The motion had been prompted by the fact that two rainmakers—that engaged by the B.C. Power Commission and a second firm employed by the Powell River Company—have generators on Vancouver Island.

Earl Selkirk, retiring controller of the attorney-general's department, was presented with several gifts by members of his staff at a party last Friday at the home of H. A. Maclean, deputy attorney-general. The gifts were presented to the retiring controller by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

BOARDING HOUSE

Harbor Defense Battery Booms Out From Mary Hill

Men of the 5th West Coast Harbor Defense Battery made their presence known to Victorians over the week-end as they limbered up some heavy coast artillery from Fort Mary Hill.

The two-day "shoot" rattled windows in many parts of the city. Army officials described the exercise as "very successful."

Eighty officers and men took part in the first exercise since re-formation of the unit. Commanding the battery was Major T. D. Eckford.

Troop officer Lieutenant Brian Hanson and his men chalked up the best record—scoring five hits out of 10 tries at towed seaward targets.

Battery officers engaged in firing were Captain Doug Chorlton, Lieutenant Gordon English and Lieutenant Ian Sherwin.

Officers from 25 Militia Group, headed by Major Tony Smart, were on hand. Also

A-Sub's Surging Power Frightens Congressmen on Nautilus Cruise

Senator Albert Gore (Dem., Tenn.) was one of 12 members of the congressional committee on atomic energy who made an all-night cruise Sunday aboard the Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine. He describes his impressions in the following account written for The Associated Press.

By SENATOR ALBERT GORE

WASHINGTON (AP)—How deep the Nautilus can dive is a secret. But there is no secret that I had nervous twinges as she plunged downward in excess of 300 feet.

How fast she will race through the dark, briny depths is also a secret. But it was the thrill of a lifetime to break all previous records in this respect.

The fright, which I frankly admit, and the exhilaration, which I shall not forget, were only aspects of an enlightening, enjoyable and inspiring experience.

The food that we ate was cooked by atomic power. The water that we drank was distilled from ocean water by atomic energy. The submarine was not only driven but lighted, heated and air-conditioned by atomic energy. In fact, all power for all purposes was exclusively nuclear in origin.

The first few hours out were calm and uneventful. It must necessarily be so until we reached really deep water. If the captain had taken his nervous passengers into a precipitous plunge without some hours of conditioning I'm not sure that all the pounding hearts would have survived. Though none of my colleagues would admit to being scared, they had a certain nervous look about them that made me think they felt about like I did.

The committee broke up into parties of two or three to inspect the vessel. Each of us carefully placed upon the lapel of his coat the instruments to test radioactivity that had been given us upon boarding the Nautilus.

Upon entering the reactor room I looked at mine, even though I had previously sneaked a glance. The gauge ranged from zero to 300. At no time did my gauge register more than two points.

The atomic reactor was, of course, the centre of interest. We were mere inches from lethal, deadly radioactivity. Yet we could harmlessly place our hands upon this still, warm, but quiet source of enormous power.

I could feel its thrust upon the submarine's propeller, as if thousands and thousands of horses were racing and surging in unison.

After dinner the real shake-down manoeuvres began. Now that his guests had become thoroughly conditioned for it, as he thought, the captain ordered the Nautilus put through her paces.

The speedometer needle moved rapidly clockwise, receding only as the Nautilus took sharp banks and turns. Straight ahead again through the deep, and again the speedometer moved clockwise until we were told that we were racing under water at a record-breaking speed.

After we had been submerged for hours I asked Admiral Hyman Rickover how many days the Nautilus could proceed under water at full speed. "Indefinitely," he answered.

'TELL SCOTLAND'

Graham's First Call Brings 480 Converts

GLASGOW, Scotland (UP)—Billy Graham's "Tell Scotland" campaign won a record 480 converts Monday night in an opening battle for the Lord that Scotland will never forget.

Graham opened the campaign in Kelvin Hall, a converted boxing arena jammed with 14,000 persons from all parts of Scotland. Television carried the services to another 5,000 in the basement.

Outside the hall police with tartan bands around their caps struggled to hold back a mob of sightseers and clear a path for snarled traffic. Thousands were locked out of the hall and the overflow meeting downstairs.

Victoria Woman Draws Favored Horse in 'Irish'

Lucky 12 in B.C.
Include Duncan Man

By TONY DICKASON

A vivacious Victoria red-head who says "I don't know anything about horses," today switched on a wide, ecstatic smile of undiluted happiness when told by the Times she had drawn a horse in the "Irish" to be run Saturday in England.

She was the sole Victorian to have a horse in the draw Monday.

"Another lucky ticket holder resides at Duncan—but only the non-de-plume 'Mitzy' is listed. Ticket number is MQ-47863. Name of the horse is not shown.

They are two of the 12 British Columbian among 149 Canadians who have drawn horses.

Mrs. Jean McArthur, a Scots girl "over 21," received the news in the laboratory of St. Joseph's Hospital where she works. She was loath to believe it at first.

"Come now," she said believing.

The news spread throughout the "lab" quickly and nurses and office workers fluttered around in high excitement.

LET'S CELEBRATE

Coolest was Mrs. MacArthur. She answered the usual questions amongst a babble of such comments as "Isn't it wonderful . . . you should cut us all in . . . how terrific . . . super . . . there'll be no work done here today . . . let's have a holiday."

She's indeed a lucky gurr-l for Mrs. McArthur didn't buy her ticket. It was purchased two months ago by R. McArthur, a cousin of her hubby. He wrote her name on the ticket and his own address, 1573 Pear Street.

Said Mr. McArthur: "I never buy them for myself. I think it's the third one I've bought for her. Do I feel badly about a possible personal loss? Of course not."

I-I SHOT

Her ticket drawn was on Mariner's Log, an 18-to-1 shot, one of the favorites in the field of 37. As the horse is regarded as a certain starter she is assured of $1400.

(See sports page for latest odds.)

If Mariner's Log tips in first in the famed steeplechase, she stands to win $140,000; if second, $56,000. The numerous prizes range down to $28.

Mrs. McArthur is putting her ticket in a "nice, safe place" in her home at 639 Yates Street.

Two persons in the Toronto area hold tickets on the favorite, Early Mist. Six Canadians have tickets on the second-place favorite, Tudor Line, and one on Goosander, bracketed with Tudor Line as second choice. Mariner's Log is sixth choice.

LONDON (AP)—Tormond and Air Wedding, long shots for the 109th Grand National steeplechase, were officially scratched today.

SNOW POISONED IN KALAMAZOO?

Radioactivity an Ally of Leukemia, Cancer, Says Nobel Winner Pauling

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The sixth atomic test of the 1955 series, believed to be a "junior grade" size, was triggered by the United States Atomic Energy Commission at 5:05 a.m. PST today.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Gamma radiation from atomic tests could be potentially fatal to persons whose resistance is low to cancer or leukemia, Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize winner in chemistry, said Monday.

"Such persons might be pushed over the line," Dr. Pauling told a press conference, called to explain remarks he made in a speech last week. He had recommended halting all nuclear tests by the United States and Russia because of what he called "the worldwide effects" of radioactive fallout. He repeated Monday that "no place is safe" because the atomic clouds drift around the world. He hazarded the opinion that shortening of the life span might be one effect, but added that full effects might not be known for 150 to 200 years.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—A physicist at Western Michigan College says radioactive fallout from atomic bomb tests at Nevada has at times increased Kalamazoo's radiation count from 46 to as high as 800 a minute. Kalamazoo is approximately 1,700 miles from Yucca Flats, Nev.

Dr. Maynard Kruglak, associate professor of physics, said the increase represents "a danger signal to me."

Dr. Kruglak began his investigation of the Kalamazoo air March 7, at the time of the latest atomic tests at Yucca Flats, Nev.

The morning the first device was exploded he got a normal radiation count of 46 a minute. By 1 p.m., March 9, the average count had reached 67 and by the morning of March 10 it had reached 200.

Similar investigations after the March 12 tests at Nevada disclosed "basically the same results," Dr. Kruglak said.

However, during the last experiment, Dr. Kruglak checked a pan of snow and found that 2½ days after the test the count of filtered-down snow reached 800.

Asked if it was dangerous, Dr. Kruglak replied:

"I wouldn't go out and sit in that snowbank and I would not boil it down and drink it. A reading of 10 times normal radiation, around 500 in Kalamazoo, is a danger signal to me."

He added that a person would have to be exposed for a "considerable time to suffer any ill effects at this level."

WORST PACIFIC TRAGEDY

Flames Sweep Crashed Plane

HONOLULU (UP)—A four-engine navy plane crashed into the side of a mountain today. All 66 persons aboard perished.

It was the worst aviation disaster in the history of Hawaii.

The DC-6, a military air transport plane, returning to Hickham Field after developing radio trouble, crashed and burned on a ridge inside a top-secret ammunition depot, 20 miles northwest of here, at 2:16 a.m. A woman and a small child were among the 57 passengers and nine crewmen.

A Marine guard at the ammunition depot, said plane roared over at an altitude of 500 feet. It barely missed hitting a 700-foot radio antenna.

"LIKE DAYLIGHT"

Then the pilot turned on the landing lights and, apparently, saw the ridge ahead. But it was too late to avoid smashing into the mountain.

The mountainside "lit up like daylight for about one minute," the Marine said he could see the plane burning fiercely for several minutes after the crash.

A civilian who lives on the station said the plane was so low that the roar of its engines awakened him out of a sound sleep. Then he heard a "sound like a gasoline drum explosion."

When the first person reached the scene 45 minutes after the crash, the plane was still burning.

"It was not and there were small explosions which sounded like small arms ammunition going off," he said. There was no sign of life.

"Everything was burned," he said. "The wreckage smelled of burning hair and you could tell there were bodies in there."

The crash was "the most disastrous Pacific crash ever reported outside of the Far East." The worst previous air disaster in the Pacific was the crash of a Transocean Airlines plane off Wake Island July 12, 1953, in which 58 persons were killed.

No 'Trade' For Alaska Says Bennett

HONOLULU (Reuters)—W. A. C. Bennett, premier of British Columbia, told reporters here today that Canadians would be "outraged" if so-called whisperings of a land exchange between Canada and the United States got to the talking stage.

"Any talk of Canada trading southern British Columbia for Alaska is utterly irresponsible and absurd," he said.

"But I wouldn't mind seeing Hawaii joined to British Columbia," he added humorously.

U.S. Forced To Publish Yalta Papers

Great Pressure, Churchill Told

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today the U.S. government agreed earlier this month not to publish the Yalta papers but then changed its mind.

Replying to Socialist questioners in the House of Commons, Churchill said that on March 11 he received word from Washington agreeing with the British stand against publishing the Yalta documents.

However, four days later, on March 15, another message said the state department was under pressure which could not be resisted any longer, he said.

PARTY MATTER

"I think what has occurred may have been influenced by accidental circumstances and should not be judged as a definite policy on the part of any other country," Churchill replied.

"We know, as a matter of fact, that in the United States Yalta is a party matter, and sometimes people go quite a long way in party matters," Churchill paused, and added: "As Mr. Attlee knows."

LONDON (AP)—"Traitor of Yalta" was scrawled in red paint across the base of a statue of President Roosevelt in Grosvenor Square early today. The defacement was believed the work of a person angered by the disclosure in the Yalta conference papers released in Washington last week that the American president suggested handing over Hong Kong to China.

Police Find No Trace of Missing Bandit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police forces on the lower British Columbia mainland continued their search for escaped bank robber William Babcock today but reported they had no promising leads to his whereabouts.

Babcock, just starting a 20-year sentence, slipped out of Oakalla prison Sunday with a church choir.

"We are proceeding on the assumption that he is still in the Vancouver area," an RCMP official said. "But we really haven't any idea where he is."

Meanwhile, former hockey great Frank Frederickson told how he walked out of the prison chapel with Babcock.

Mr. Frederickson, a member of the King's men of Ryerson United Church, was one of 24 men who held a Bible class in the prison Sunday afternoon.

"As we were going out," he said, "this fellow came up and started walking beside me. I didn't know him. But I don't know everyone in our group. I thought he was one of us."

"He said to me 'that was a nice talk, Mr. Frederickson, I liked it.'"

Babcock, who was wearing dark glasses and a business suit, slipped away from the group outside the chapel and escaped over a wire fence. Police believe he had an accomplice in a car outside.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING For Young People

(A version of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's best two-year best-seller "The Power of Positive Thinking" the following is one of a daily series of articles specially directed to young people but helpful to all ages.)

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

CHAPTER VII BE A WINNER

If you are a person who thinks and expects defeat, I urge you to stop and consider. For thinking defeat tends to bring it upon you. Talk to yourself: re-educate yourself; get yourself out of the habit of negative thinking, of believing anything can defeat you. I suggest that you adopt as a slogan, "Be a Winner." And say it to yourself every time doubt comes into your mind. Really believe that you can "Be a Winner."

Take the story of Richard Gonzales, who won the national tennis championship a few years ago in a grueling battle. He had been practically unknown, and, because of wet weather, he had not been able to perfect his game prior to the tournament. The sports writer, in analyzing Gonzales, said that there were certain defects in his technique, and gave it as his opinion that probably greater champions had played on the courts; however, he credited Gonzales with a marvelous serve and a skillful volley. But the factor that won the championship, said the writer, was his staying power and the further fact that "he was never defeated by the discouraging vicissitudes of the game."

That is one of the most subtle lines I have ever read

'JUST CHATTER' SAYS CHURCHILL

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill jovially told Parliament today to avoid being "led away by all the chatter in the papers" about his rumored retirement. Churchill's jocular comment, however, did not still a widely held belief that his retirement is imminent.

12 in Province Sweep Winners

By TONY DICKASON

A vivacious Victoria red-head who says "I don't know anything about horses," today switched on a wide, ecstatic smile of undiluted happiness when told by the Times she had drawn a horse in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes on the Grand National to be run Saturday in England.

She was the sole Victorian to have a horse in the draw Monday.

Another lucky ticket holder resides at Duncan—but only the non-de-plume "Mitzzy" is listed. Ticket number is MQ-47863. Name of the horse is not shown.

They are two of the 12 British Columbians among 149 Canadians who have drawn horses. Mrs. Jean McArthur, a Scots girl "over 21," received the news in the laboratory of St. Joseph's Hospital where she works. She was loath to believe it at first.

"Come now," she said unbelievably.

The news spread throughout the "lab" quickly and nurses and office workers fluttered around in high excitement.

LET'S CELEBRATE

Cooler was Mrs. MacArthur. She answered the usual questions amongst a babble of such comments as "isn't it wonderful... you should cut us all in... how terrific... super... there'll be no work done here today... let's have a holiday."

She's indeed a lucky gurl.

3 Bridges Needed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A report prepared by highway planners says three new high-level bridges spanning the Fraser River will be needed by 1976 to relieve serious traffic congestion on the Pattullo Bridge. The report says it is "urgent" and "imperative" that at least one of these bridges be built within the next two years to prevent trans-Canada River traffic from reaching a dangerous saturation point.

Gales up to 71 miles per hour whipped through Essex and Kent counties, leaving behind a trail of uprooted trees and utility poles, then drove nine fishing boats out of Erieau, south of Chatham.

One boat, believed to have four or five men aboard, was reported in distress off Wheatley, about 20 miles from Erieau.

Amateur Archeologist Placed Tarpaulin Shroud

NANAIMO (CP)—The mystery of the three bodies—those of young children—found on a lonely Valdes Island beach was cleared up today.

They were from an ancient Indian burial ground and probably had been there 150 years, reported A. L. Kendall of Bona Harbor, five miles south of here.

Mr. Kendall for three years has been making a study of the old Haida Indian burial ground. There are perhaps 1,000 bodies in the burial site. He has in his possession a large collection of relics taken from the island, six miles from here.

The children's bodies, one intact in a mummified condition and the skulls and bones of the two others, were found by two boys trapping on the island. They made their find when they looked under a canvas they found beneath an overhanging cliff.

"There is no mystery to these deaths," said Mr. Kendall. "I placed the canvas over them some time ago to protect them from the elements."

"White people make me ashamed sometimes," he added.

TOSSED OVER CLIFF

He said about a year ago some visitors from Victoria had tossed a body over a cliff, taking it from the burial grounds.

Mr. Kendall today produced a photo of the three bodies he took three years ago. The bodies are shown resting in long cedar shawls with which the Indians draped their dead many years ago.

Police sent the bodies to Victoria for an examination by anthropologists at the museum there.

The intact body is that of a child about 10 years old. The skulls and bones of the other two indicated their ages to be about two or three years old.

66 Perish in Crash Of Plane in Hawaii

Worst Pacific Disaster as Army Craft
Crashes Into Side of Peak; No Survivors

HONOLULU (UP)—A four-engine navy plane crashed into the side of a mountain today. All 66 persons aboard perished.

It was the worst aviation disaster in the history of Hawaii.

The DC-6, a military air transport plane, returning to Hickham Field after developing radio trouble, crashed and burned on a ridge inside a top-secret ammunition depot, 20 miles northwest of here, at 2:16 a.m. A woman and a small child were among the 57 passengers and nine crewmen.

A Marine guard at the ammunition depot, said plane roared over at an altitude of 500 feet. It barely missed hitting a 700-foot radio antenna.

"LIKE DAYLIGHT"

Then the pilot turned on the landing lights and, apparently, saw the ridge ahead. But it was too late to avoid smashing into the mountain.

The mountainside "lit up like daylight for about one minute."

The marine said he could see the plane burning fiercely for several minutes after the crash.

A civilian who lives on the station said the plane was so low that the roar of its engines awakened him out of a sound sleep. Then he heard a "sound
